Y. W. C. A. Gives Reception to The New Girls

Several days before coming to LaGrange, this fall the new girls received invitations to a reception given in their honor by the W. C. A. Sunday evening, September 15th. The reception was so unexpected, with the custom of the Y. W. C. A., whose members, stately, at the last beginning of control to learn all the girls, make them feel at home and render all services possible. The reception was given in the College parlors, the faculty residing also being in the reception hall. Each old girl had a date with a new girl and was responsible for her entertainment. The whole crowd wasateurs and hurriedly and eagerly filled out. Promenading on the Quaintard and through the halls was like carrying forth the best opportunity for meeting everyone.

During the prom music was enjoyed and members of the entertainment committee served punch. Among the first of the Punches was Miss Catherine Chestnutt, who was served. It was a very enjoyable occasion and we trust that the acquaintances made during the evening may be the beginning of lasting friendships.

AVON PLAYERS PRESENT

SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA

TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Quite an outstanding event and one long to be remembered in LaGrange as the production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the High School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, October 4th, with Miss Mary Estes as director. The production of Joseph Solman is being acclaimed by the profession of continuous students and LaGrange College was fortunate to have the privilege of seeing this splendid play.

The impresive personalities of the players, combined with the stage setting, scenery and gorgeous costumes characterized the play. The lighting effects were splendid and gave an atmosphere of color and romance to the production. It was so successful that the audience did not leave the theater until the curtain call for encore.

The play was presented in the music room and the audience was seated in comfortable surroundings.

The Washington Trip

Being a most up-to-date school for young ladies, LaGrange College believes in "Good America First," and although she has been a little retarded, she believes the world and the field of settling college women, with great enthusiasm, her students have the opportunity of travel. The belief of President W. E. Thompson that travel is the best education, is shared by each student, and his theory that the most wonderful sights in the world are to be found in our own country and that each L. C. Student should certainly see them, has reached an all-time high.

As a result of those lofty ideas, the girls at LaGrange College are planning to carry out a most pleasurable plan—that of sending each Senior class on a trip to Washington D. C. President W. E. Thompson is the originator of the idea and earnestly hopes that the trip will be a success. The beginning of the trip was an appointment with the President of Harvard University, Dr. A. L. EA. President W. E. Thompson's address was a welcome to the new students and the beginning of lasting friendships.

The officers for this year are: President—Helicon Walker, Vice-President—Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Secretary—Alice White, Treasurer—Nell Cole, Historian—Mary E. Moulton, Honoray Member—Charles Bird, and Chairman of Committees T. M. W. and L. C. M. with the following officers: Faculty—Julia H. Thomas, Josephine Gooding, May Bell, and Social Service—Martha J. Adkins, Mildred E. Ellis, Ethel L. Wilson, and Virginia M. Moore. They have been busy and are looking forward to the coming year with great hope.

STUNT NIGHT

Str autistic stunt we all sometimes say "we will call "pull stunts" on someone; even with our "Yes, you've to "pull stunts" on somebody," but we're just being silly. Our stunt was quite a success and we hope it will bring smiles to the faces of many who were there.

The stunt was held in the evening on the second day of school and was attended by all classes. The guests were served sandwiches and tea. Mrs. Walker served high tea and Miss Chestnutt, chairman of the entertainment committee, had the entertainment arranged.

ANOTHER YEAR

September 13, 1929 marked the beginning of a new Year for us who are students at LaGrange. Many were the changes that have been made and have since been broken. Strong were the determinations with which we set about to make profitable our college career. High were our aspirations for our personal achievements. And fond were our achievements. And fond were our

ANNUAL FACULTY

RECREATIONAL DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE FRIDAY EVEN

On Friday evening, October 11th, the faculty recital was given in the college auditorium to a large and appreciative audience. The following is a list of the programs:

"Fantasy" C Minor (Blach)
"Novello" Op. 7 (Schumann)
"Humoresque," (Rogers)
"I Don Faule Tahle"—Miss Nettie Woods
"The Polka," Variations Serioso
"A Spirit Flower," (Tipitino)
"I Un'Sopirig," (List)
"Miss Cornelia Brownlee
Miss Chase gave a Vagabond program, as recently broadcast over W2XZ. "A Be,-

SOPHOMORE MORTUARY

One of the saddest and most tragic incidents of the semester is the removal from our campus of the residence 202 West Second Street Hawkies. Upon leaving the dormitory, October the 6th, the devoted step-aunts were met at the door of their little home by a very dear and intimate friend, namely, Ruby Nell Robertson, who made them laugh in every place that they three step-mothers had departed from this life. Upon hearing the story, the dramatic art teacher tenderly escorted one of the step-aunts from her expression lesson. When she reached the residence she crossed at the presence of black, tears on the door.

The "fountain of youth" in 2nd street Hawkies was poured over the lifeless bodies but all efforts to revive them proved useless.

Funeral services were held at the home of the late Alister. Full services were present by many friends.

Interment was held in the "Waste Basket cemetery," after which the bodies were cremated by Dr. Carl.

THE DEATH

The death is generally believed to have been caused by sun-stroke, since Mrs. Carol announced, "If Dred and Carl forgot rising bell?"

They are pictures. The pictures are all being made. The pictures are all being made.

In the year of the annual "who’s who" contest the college household, always doing can hardly wait for Monday to come. If Virginia Mosley failed to appear, she had been excused. Patience and perseverance, untiring!

GLADYS GOSSEY

Dear Editor:

I want to enthusiastically announce our loyal devoted staff of editors. This month, I am happy to report the following: due to the most violent measures that have been taken, I must ask you to really keep in touch with our mutual friends as much as I; therefore I thought you would appreciate any little bit of news and of course there are some inquiries I shall make of you.

Let's start on the freshmen (I hear they were started on and finished a few days past). From all sides it has been reported to me that they're the best sports in existence. That's great. I hope the Junior-Senior banquet will take place on the campus this year or at least within a browser distance. So they, the freshmen, of course, lapped up initiation even swallowing it. Someone mentioned a program they put on in the gym at four A.M. I was not present (closed by the Sophomores). Was it really such a huge success? They told me that the simple little part Maidee Smith had actually caused her embarrassment. Tut, tut, she'll grow out of that. I was proud to hear of Miss Mandrin's ability as an emotional actress. Well, I'm glad it was such a delightfully vivid performance. Don't you think the new girls enjoyed open houses? But there is the way that black-haired gentleman—I can't remember his name exactly but the latest part he played is too something but—anyhow do you suppose he will feel that he was neglected.

SOPHOMORE LINE-UP

The Sophomores scored their first point last week when they made a brilliant "kick-off" in the election of these officers.

Allaay Beale was unanimously re-elected with the promise that she will fully capable of directing the actions of the class last year. With her many admirable traits and excellent qualities we feel sure as "Cap" she'll prove as capable toward and lead the team with unerring zeal to the goal.

Tommy Dunbar, also possessing the qualities of leadership, has already proved herself to be a valuable asset to the class by assuming an important captain.

With the office of secretary and treasurer in the capable hands of Boss Merritt, there is no doubt in our minds that the class is prepared to work with speed and efficiency, will keep a record of the many points we expect to score this year.

With these offices, let's "line up" and cooperate; Show that Sophomore spirit.

Signals on!! ’29 — Hike!

THE ENGLISH CLUB

Last week the English Club was reorganized for the year of 1929-1930. Miss Margaret Partow was re-elected president and the new officers are Miss Isabel Brady, vice-president and Miss Clara Carter, secretary and treasurer.

With the cooperation of all the members we hope to make this year the most profitable as well as the most enjoyable we have had.

Are you? Why believe it or not, I actually saw one little freshman avoid him. But as you read in the news, it was a very pretty party, and oh sure, we were the flowers which adorned the rooms of our schoolmates, and our club directors. Speaking of sports— I'm glad to learn that the girls seem interested in the personnel of outdoor activities. Especially the tennis courts—why I never see people out there quite often, that is until the weather grew so muddy.

Miss Wardlaw clad in white sports togs has developed into a tennis fiend.

Someone said that the sponsor of the Sophomore class reminded me to mention their president. It pains my vanity to confessed, but it is being banded around that the class is going to Lewis that the young lady before many more decades. But his utter indifference really is startling—maybe you don't see these facts, but we've been here nearly three weeks and her gal has been down for only two weekends— imagine such neglect.

Also this law-breaker along the same line, the president of the Y.M.C.A. at Emory University came to our city last Saturday incidentally to hunt up the biology lab, instructor and she actually avoided him. The young swain abode in my mind for twenty-four hours and the idea— all young woman would consent to but four dates with him. But if I don't say anything about this man you'll think I'm his press agent. I must stop now until something else of vital importance comes to pass.

Yours till Mr. Bailey goes Yo-Yo,

Glady Gossey.

THE KID PARTY

"Backward, turn backward, O time in thy flight;
Make all of us here boys and girls again.
Just for tonight."

Such was the plus of all when the Sophomore Club held their Kid Party on Saturday night, September 28, with an admission price of only ten cents. And this wish was granted in so far as short dresses, socks and hair-ribbon disappeared, and little girls in high glee, Elijah playing. Hugs and kisses were more frequent than ever. A special feature of the evening's entertainment was the grand march led by Miss Claire Hill and Mary Leever. The judges, Miss Wardlaw and Miss Woods. Miss Chester gave several readings, after which the faculty rendered some popular numbers.

Everybody (including the faculty members) were soon up and remember that there is another delivery in the afternoon, and "Somebody, you know how the mail is, it's always getting mixed up, I guess I'll hear this afternoon."

At the conclusion of the games the prize winners were announced. The prizes, a pin tray and a yo-yo, were awarded to Miss Emaline Goolsby and Miss Pauline Roberts, respectively.

Miss Godby was dowered as a princess and Miss Catherine Chastin, as a due princess, while Miss Burton and Miss Catherine Chastin received honorable mention.

THE LATIN CLUB MEETS

The Societas Minerva hold a very interesting meeting on Wednesday last. Miss Mary Wallace, president of the society, extended a hearty welcome to Dr. Wilson, new sponsor of the club, and Misses Vina Griffith and Katherine Rogers, new members.

Dr. Wilson replied with a short talk which instantly won the heart of every hostess. She turned the combination and thrust in a hand for a better that might, or might not, be there. If she was lucky, each girl held two letters as she made her way out, one from home, and one from "hush, and so," Ga. Tech; U. of Ga; Emory; Auburn; U. of Ala; or what have you?

But one is not always so lucky. Sometimes there is only one letter in the box, and on some days, none at all (or worse yet, a "Please Remit").

Thus it was, when the whole world was going wrong, the teachers faint, and room-mates sold; but it is a down-hearted girl, indeed, who does not cheer up and remember that there is another delivery in the afternoon, and "Anybody ever hear you're always getting mixed up, I guess I'll hear this afternoon."

A delightful social hour was then observed, and Miss May Bell Yancey graciously served dainty refreshments. Everyone reported a very pleasant as well as goodable afternoon.
