Miss Freshie Weds Mr. Classman, Jr., at Impressive Home Ceremony

A marriage of collegiate interest was that of Miss Freshie (Miss Helen Bowers of Macon) and Mr. Classman, Jr. (Miss Evelyn Galloway, of Meriwether County), solemnized Thursday evening at 6 o’clock in the college parlor. Miss Gerda Davis, president of the student government association performed the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a large number of college students.

The parlors are artistically decorated with garden flowers. An imposing altar thrall between which the young couple stood and took their vows, was basked in ferns, and a chandelier with white lamps, making a beautiful background for the bridal party.

The wedding suite was furnished with music furnished by Madame Violette, soprano, accompanied by Miss Margarete Thomas, of Atlanta, pianist, and Miss Neil Cole, of East Point, violinist, sang “At Dawning” and “All For You.”

The bridesmaids, who were Misses Frances Ernestelli, of Atlanta and Frances Floyd, of Rome, were in evening gowns of pastel shades. Miss Mildred Hall, of Fairfax, the maid of honor, wore a lovely model of blue satin, while Miss Ruth McCarty, of West Point, was in a dress of white chiffon, which was graced in blue georgette. All of the attendants carried arm bouquets of white flowers to match their costumes.

Miss Bess Merritt, of Emory University, Ga., was best man and the groomsman was Miss Alyna Bevill, of East Point and Miss Carolyne Chandler, of Jeffersonville.

The ribbons bearers were Misses Ruth Engrum, of Macon; Margaret Fannin, of Rome; and Mildred Lane, of East Point, and Miss flower girls and scattered flower petals in the path of the bride. Miss Tommy Dunbar, of Byron, was train-bearer and Miss Pauline Roberts, of Rome, was flower girl.

The bride who entered with her father, Miss Vera Orr, of Rome, was lovely in her wedding dress of white satin, a princess model with graceful lines. Her veil fell in soft folds and was attached to her dark hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

The family of the bride was: Miss Paty McCoy, of Decatur; mother; Miss Vera Orr, of Rome; father; and Miss Elma Cowan, of Social Circle, little brother. The groom’s family was: Miss Helen Waller, of East Point; grandmother, and Miss Mary Walker, of Hamilton, Ga., little sister.

---

Quill Drives Elect Sponsor, New Members

The members of the Quill Drivers Club welcome most cordially, two new members, Misses Carolyn Haskon and Miss Sara Lee Payne, Miss Haskon will serve as Feature Editor on the staff of the Scroll and Miss Payne as assistant advertising manager.

The Scroll Staff feels itself highly complimented, in that Miss Helen Haskon, half of the English Department, has accepted an invitation to become sponsor of the publication. We feel sure that Miss Will will be of great benefit to us and that she will help us on to greater things in the journalistic world.

The title of the publication is May 1, 1930, the official birthday of the Scroll. The first issue for the year 1930 was published May 1 and the annual reception was held on that date.

---

L.C. Welcomes New Members to Its Faculty

LaGrange is glad to welcome as new members of its faculty and staff the following individuals: Miss Edith Walsh, Professor of English; Miss Sara King, Assistant in Department Languages; Miss Christie Hinkle, Teacher of Voice. Miss Mildred Singer, Director of Music.

Miss Doris Shephard, Secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Stoddart, Mistress. It is the sincere wish of this faculty and students who have been at LaGrange for several years that those new members of the college thorough will learn to love Old L.C. and feel that they too, have a home here.

---

LACRANGE COLLEGE BEGINS CENTENNIAL YEAR

On September 10th, the college was awakened from the long quiet of summer students again with the gladness laughter and voices of girls returning, girls to the joyous, extruded xerox of the Alma Mater, the girls came, soon the first time with larger initiation and others with memories of past years. After the final announcement of registration began.

Then on Sept. 12th, the entire student body was called before the Faculties Recital and the following questions, he was presented by Mrs. W. A. Boster, Jr., presented the characters, Peter Keppel, “Pete What-is-It” and Neva Casside.

Hugh Crawford, a fellow artist, Grody Davis. Jimmie Draycott, Miss Vera Orr, Pauline Roberts, Michelle Dunn Draycott, Jimmie’s mother, Beatrice Draycott, Emmanuel Wade, Millie Lynn Draycott, Netelle Carley, Francis O’Malley, and a team of teammates, Phoebus Jenkins.

Johanna McCarthy, "Judy" in the college auditorium in the first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices” rebel after waiting for him for years. “Judy” McCarthy comes to her rescue and trials to bring Peter to his senses, only to further complicate matters. The second act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.

The entire action takes place in Beattie Draycott’s studio in Chelsea, within the city of New York, four hours from Peter. The first act “Peter Puts It Off” —his wedding with Beatrice Draycott and the three “Beatrices”. The third act shows Peter the following things in his life: married to his “idea of pagentry” —a marriage of convenience.

Miss Singer, their sponsor. The girls are presented the three-act play, “Just Like Judy” in the college auditorium at eight fifteen o’clock.
AVON PLAYERS PRESENT

ROMEO & JULIET

SOCIETAS MINERAL

After following Aeschylus through his perils and dangers and passing between its twin peaks of pleasure and pain, we come to the world of modern Miss of L. C., which did not feel a thrum under her awn sky. Callaway model, when Romeo utters the famous line, dramatic moment in a tragic drama, "I am for Venice!"

We will pass the whole day and initiate Romeo and Juliet consecutively, at the same time hop companion. We can't assert the performance, but it would not even then affect our pleasure at the most recent presentation of the Avon Players. We were overcome with admiration last year when they presented, "The Merchant of Venice," but we were again charmed by their performance this year.

The play was worked up to a fine point and each part to make the entertainment. The part of Capulet was well played by Linda Lyttan; Emilia, by Mary Samuel; Nurse, by Susie Eubanks; Tybalt, by Robert Tarbert; Romeo, by Robert Bailes; Juliet, by Mary H. Bailey; Friar Lawrence, by Robert Bailes; Greta, by Jane Hart; Balthasar, by Robert Bailes; and the rest by the following:电工, Robert Bailes; Peter, by Maxine Foyl; the Apothecary played by Charles Land; John, by J. M. Donald; Balthasar, by J. W. Davis; and Greta, by Mary H. Bailey.

From the thrilling excitement on the quaint scene of a street in Verona, where the tragic sight of the cruel was done, Romeo's representation by William Burdridge; Mercutio played by Joseph Slosman; Friar Lawrence, by Robert Bailes; Balthasar, by Robert Bailes; and Greta, by Mary H. Bailey. The Avon Players under the direction of Joseph Schnei, present Shakespeare's plays throughout the entire South, and the leading colleges and universities lend a hand by sponsoring productions. This is the second year they have appeared at LaGrange College, and the students are looking forward to having them as an annual event of the Fall Term. We will gladly accept the hill, these performances come as a sort of break between the first weeks of school and the onset of November Holidays. We welcome the Avon Players and hope their coming will be an annual occurrence.

Russel and golden chrysanthemums of golden fields against a background of lavender-blue hills, under the burning sky, with a tinge of cool winter, of crimson and golden maple leaves, of orange pomegranates and brown nuts; October with her yellow sunshine and mellow smile.

The gold we find in this month is much more precious than that of the world; it is golden pictures all about us, and if we but see, we shall be rich in thoughts. Thoughts of Thanksgiving for life in such a wonderful world as we have, of the great Autumn as she flaunts her crimson and golden haziers over all the world. The moon is in her glory and the skies show the highest order of the heavens. With a careless hand she spreads lavender scent through the valley and beneath it she shows her leaves and rustles them as we walk. October gives us our royal beauty; let us accept her gift and be glad.

HILL TOP FLACHES

Molly Fort: "I say, Mary, I have a headache."

Pendy: "Splendid! I'll start dressing."

Molly: "Yes, do. They're for tomorrow."

Whatever trouble had Adam, no man, in days of yore, could say when he had told a joke, "I've heard that one before."

Miss Singer: When I was your age I thought nothing of a ten-mile hike, but I think your engine dead."

Millie Wells: Well, I don't think...
Edith Traylor, LaGrange, the most intellectual of the College were selected. Miss Evelyn Galloway, Miss Virginia Moseley, Danielsville, Ga., are: Sara Clyde Hutchins, president of science and Mr. E. A. Bailey beat all-round.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club is an honorary class organization. Then on another, clad in green dresses and another, running from one building to

THE IDEAL COLLEGE GIRL

The Ideal College Girl comes to college with a determination to give to the best she has, and to gain from it the best it offers. She respects and I that tact which is born with it. She meets. She shines into the lives of those whom she mistreats anyone and she underestimates everybody. She does not intentional-
AUTUMN TWILIGHT

Softly o'er the distant hilltop
Purple shadows creep.
While the mellow smell of autumn
Lulls the flowers to sleep;
And the leaves are softly falling
Downward by one.

Saying, "Mother Earth is calling;
Lend her a helping hand.
Over the earth they spread a blanket
Yellow, brown and red,
Making for us the harvest
A very, glowing bed.

—Lucy Barrett, '32

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB MEETS

The first regular meeting of the International Relations club was held in the club room on October 9. The president, Miss Grace Loundon, called the meeting to order. After a brief business session the following business was transacted:

Recent Disturbances in Brazil.

—Miss Hilda Gentry.

AFLA of the International Relations Club—Mr. W. L. Murray.

Following this delightful program, refreshments were served by Misses Merritt, Henley and Mathison.

BLOWER SNATCHES WAYSIDE WHISPERS

Blasters have been heard among a certain group of girls? Why? My dear, the explanation is one four-cornered and only brief snatches for phrases.

It's at this time of the year that the Quadrangle staff begins its task of making an annual for the year. Many a cup of the proverbial midnight oil is burned in an effort to get something done. Everything is different, and something original for our annual, and we are all trial and tribulation in this effort, but what a pleasure to represent the Alma Mater with an Annual which is in every way worthy; an Annual typical in every way of the numerous aspects of our life on the campus.

It's for you, L'cian, that we work to produce this Quadrangle.

We wish to give you an Annual that you may refer to it with a glowing pride and an appreciation for the pictures that it gives of life at LaGrange College. To fulfill these aims and ambitions, we must have your support and cooperation in all we do. The staff of the Quadrangle has to struggle just as the staff of the Student—let it be the duty of every L'cian—"Help the Quadrangle Staff.

Work has been begun on the Quadrangle, and pictures are now being made for the Annual. A new feature of the Annual this year will be the memory section. This section will be composed of pictures of the Alumnae of LaGrange. Any one who graduated from L. C. or on or before has the privilege of having his picture in the memory section.

The Quadrangle Staff is composed of the following:

Editor-in-Chief—Carolyn Channelle, Business Manager.

Pauline Roberts, Assistant Editor.

Elizabeth Merritt, Ya-yoographic Editor.

Kathleen Dunn, Advertising Manager.

Lelia Groves, Assistant Advertising Manager.

Bebe Robertson, Literary Editor.

Sara Clyde Hutchinson, Club and Features Editor.

Virginia Moorely, Circulation Manager.

Miss Nora Shepard, Faculty Ass.

NOTIONS PICKED UP BY A LIGHTNING ROG PEDDLER

While plucking periwinkles on the far distant terrace of the Hill, I was overcome by the beauty of Nature about me. I became so engrossed that I cannot resist the temptation to express my sentiments in the following lines.

The first day of fall is here,
A new journey begins.
Like the peddler, we all go
In search of new memories.

—Mary Jane Martin

THE SCROLL

LaGrange College.

“The most fortunate men and women are those who have work to do and do it because they love it.”—Batchelor

“At the gate
A man on first and third said he.
Here’s where we work the squares!
Oh, Charley dear, not right here:
It's so public, please!

The firm that appreciates your patronage.

Davis’ Pharmacy

“Home of the College Girls’

COURTESY

—And—

SERVICE

261—PHONE 263

COURTESY

—And—

SERVICE

123 Square.

Milen Drug Co.

“<The Firm that appreciates your patronage.”

LaGrange Hdw. Co

“If it’s hardware we have it.”

Better Work

Lower Cost

THE HUB, Inc.

“WE KEEP YOU LOOKING YOUR BEST”

SUNSHINE DRY CLEANERS

PHONE 116.

122 BULL ST.

Denny Drug Co.

McFRAIL CHOCOLATES

131 Main St.

LaGrange, Ga.

LaGrange College.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

STAGES PARTY

At first we had fun at the party in the Athletic Club gave on the Saturday night of October 11. North but we did! There were our attractive, story "party dresses" we played around 'til "light-bell," but we had been delighted could we have stayed a couple of hours longer.

I’m told that Sara Clyde Hutchinson and Emeline Goulsby will never get dressed for their honeymoon judging from the time in which it took her to put on one of her costumes in our famous "honeymoon" race. But there was no delay for Tommy Dunbar and Mary Peavy. Oh! Not! Their whole trip took only three minutes—how’s that for haste?

Next we had "stunts." Four groups were arranged in order of our birthdays and these were called respectively Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. "Winters" stood with her Jolly Santa Claus (played by Allyne Boyle) and his bag of "human" toys, won the prize. We only had five minutes to make our Stunts, and Goodness knows where all the original costumes were found. The slender line of figures vanished at the knelling of a distant bell. I arose immediately, dragged up the Hill with a decided "dimpled elbow" and began a process of determining of my own self. The blood in my veins ran riot, and I left myself sitting inside that dressing—wore would I be an emotion. My own heartstrings were drawn so tenderly and I could to weep. But at the very end they Answers the salty droplets from my cheeks. Turning, I beheld two figures of pigeons; they were nothing but angry and a most existence, and belief it or not, the inmates of this virtual imitative were the subject of our discussion. Being a tender lover of gossips, I shifted the elbow and proceeded to absorb almost every bit. But so sprightly did they calculate that only brief catch of phrases for the most part reached my ear, said, "Call it banishment if you like. But just 'put out' is the expression. Hats, overcoats and black veils will hereafter be donned before entering the dining hall. Can’t visualize this topic posted for reference. The latter part of this dissertation I was unable to hear. The other figure talked quite loudly, and though inaudible, I could fairly understand. French II and History you seniors seemed to have some relation being discussed at the same moment, but I didn’t see the point. But the repetition of the word "History" I suddenly couldn’t comprehend. While I was thus in such a state of perplexity the minute figures vanished at the knelling of a distant bell. I arose immediately, sharpened the pencile and began shuffling up the hill with a decided aim of learning the significance of what I heard. I HEARD SHALL.

The blood in my veins ran riot, and I left myself sitting inside that dressing room. From apples that are nigh; Purple shadows creep. The blood in my veins ran riot, and I left myself sitting inside that dressing room. From apples that are nigh; Purple shadows creep. From apples that are nigh; Purple shadows creep.