LaGrange College Holds Centennial Celebration

On Thursday, October twenty-second, the students of LaGrange College were present in a recital, the first of the season. The following program was rendered:

Miss Norman Weds Mr. Tanner at Impress-ive Ceremony

President Thompson Is Honored

The student body feels grateful to President W. E. Thompson for his warm congratulations upon his election as an annual member of the Emory Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship society.

Mr. Thompson was graduated from Emory in the class of 1895. During his years in college he won lasting friends, and active and outstanding in all campus affairs. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship society.

Mr. Thompson is among the foremost men in the field of education. His service as president of LaGrange College has been legal and binding. His election to Phi Beta Kappa comes as a fitting honor due to a worthy man.

Sororities Send Bids

The mail on the last Monday in October was opened and received. The Freshmen boxes are filled to the brim. That's the feeling in the sorority homes. The following sororities render by Miss Virginia Mosely, soprano; Miss Frankie Bayless, bass; Miss Marian, mezzo-soprano; Miss Minnie Courter, mezzo-soprano; Miss Edna Duvall, soprano; Miss Louella Smith, mezzo-soprano; Miss Mabel Henslee, mezzo-soprano; and Miss Pauline Roberts, soprano.

Curtain Raisers Admit New Members

EIGHT STUDENTS ARE INVITED

Once more the Dramatic Club pulled out their mystic curtsies and allowed eighteen new members to be held the mysterious secrets of his tactician character.

On October 19, 1931, the Club had the pleasure of welcoming a new member contributed to making the occasion a success. Although they knew the progress of the program, participation beforehand.

The president, Adolph J. Jordan, addressing the audience, stated, "The club is open to all students who wish to participate in the program." The club was open to students who wished to participate in the program.

Prominent Guests Are Invited

From the dawn of its beginning in 1831 to 1931 LaGrange College has gone through many changes, having seen both institutional standard and cultural growth. Just as a life-longing stream makes fertile the ground around it and leaves fragrant flowers and fruitful grain along its bank, such a century of service to mankind brought to a fitting culmination by the Centennial Celebration on Friday, October 19.
WHY I AM GLAD I'M ALIVE

There are many reasons why I am glad I'm alive. When I go into the garden in early morning and see the golden shadows on the grass, I feel a profound sense of awe, for they remind me of the beauty of creation. And when I hear the rustling of leaves in the wind, I am reminded of the beauty of nature. The sight of the sun rising over the hills, the sound of birds singing, the fragrance of flowers, and the beauty of the earth; in winter — the ruddy glow of the firelight's glow ....

There's beauty everywhere, above you, below you, and around you. Over your head float the fleecy clouds, the green of your feet in soft beds of grass; by you, side by side, the rose, white, and red. And with you, nature's glowing glory—God's people.

There's beauty in the way in which you smile, the way you laugh, the way you love. There's beauty in the way you speak, the way you write, the way you think. There's beauty in the way you act, the way you walk, the way you stand.

There's beauty in the way you love, the way you care, the way you give. There's beauty in the way you serve, the way you help, the way you support. There's beauty in the way you work, the way you play, the way you rest.

There's beauty in the way you dream, the way you hope, the way you believe. There's beauty in the way you choose, the way you decide, the way you act. There's beauty in the way you pray, the way you worship, the way you celebrate.

There's beauty in the way you understand, the way you learn, the way you grow. There's beauty in the way you trust, the way you rely, the way you believe. There's beauty in the way you create, the way you discover, the way you invent.

There's beauty in the way you give, the way you receive, the way you share. There's beauty in the way you love, the way you care, the way you hold. There's beauty in the way you help, the way you support, the way you comfort.

There's beauty in the way you laugh, the way you smile, the way you joy. There's beauty in the way you hope, the way you dream, the way you believe. There's beauty in the way you love, the way you care, the way you hold.
DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club has begun its work with an interest that has not been inspired by any form of political discussion. This was plainly shown at its first meeting which was held on October 25th.

The following program was then read in a most creditable manner:

Ballets from Red Russia

An extract from Humanity Unrooted—Hilde Gerttzy

The Twilight of Russian Family

Gods—Katherine Rogers

Reading—Roseline Gossby

Violin Solo—Nell Cole

Following this, Elizabeth Fort Ovi Miss Bowles, Katherine Gudger and Lucy Barrett acted as hostesses during the social hour.

ENGLISH CLUB MAKES PLANS FOR THE YEAR

The English Club program committee, composed of Phyllis Jenkins, chairman, and Katherine Glass has outlined a series of programs for the year. These programs are to include interesting biographies with corresponding works of literature, new book reviews, poems, novels and articles. Sub-committees were appointed to keep in touch with new material which comes out through the English department.

The first meeting of the English Club was held in the Prayer Hall on October 26th. Having missed their opening program, the following program was rendered in the most interesting manner:

Life of Helen Keller

—Alice White

Life of Helen Keller (part II)

—Dorothea Morton

Violin Solo—Nell Cole

"English and American College"

"Do College Students Read?"

—Lottie Teylors

"For Youth" complete (part I)

—Gibbys Goulke

Following this was a very delightful, well spent hour and a half, during which Miss Sullis, the club sponsor, and Eliza

Smitche Buffint, Medoina Jenkins, Thelma

Barrett, and Lucy Barrett acted as hostesses.

After luncheon the portraits of the presidents of the college were presented, Mr. Horace T. Quinn presiding.

In the afternoon hundreds of spec- tators witnessed the performance of "The Golden Wheel" written by Miss Carrie Fall Benson which presented the story of the history of the college. Dean E. A. Bailey seated above the wheel of time, representing the history of the college, was present. Miss Benson, the sponsor, and Miss Sullis, the club sponsor, and the various presidents of the college, including the present one, were introduced. After the alumnus banquet, the guests, the women who have attended the college for the first time, were entertained in the main studio Wednesday, October 26th. Miss Emily Sewell presided over the meeting.

The club decided to study during the year the most famous painters of Italy, Germany, Holland and France. This meeting was devoted to the earliest painters. A delightful paper on the life and works of Giotto was read by Miss Emily Sewell, Miss Frances James read a paper in the life and works of Van Eyck, and Miss Elizabeth Dunbar then told in a very interesting manner about Rembrandt. The projector was Miss Lutz, and the members of the club the some interesting facts about Rembrandt.

At the after-meeting, the members were given a number of pictures by these various artists, and they had their discussion. An art scrap book compiled by a member of the club and containing many pictures of the different artists was of particular interest.

The members of the club then went to the reading room, which is the third floor of the bookroom, Miss Jane, Dr. Wilson and Miss Stewart. The reading room has been recently fitted up for a reading room and social room for the club. The large table in the center had appropriate Halloween decorations and covered with a colorful table cloth for the twelve guests. Delicious hot chocolate, cakes and candy were served.

Quite a few students this year like the reading room. Some of the books are very interesting, and we plan to hold similar affairs for young ladies of LaGrange in the near future. A card room was one of the rooms served by the Junior Freshman whose success was a complete success. For the benefit of the Junior Freshman who was served in the card room, were served by the Junior Freshman, Miss Louise Pharr.

A lattice bedecked with rosebuds and ferns were used in profusion and the lights were of a most romantic kind. The room was decorated with pictures of the most interesting artists.
