Linzel Gives Splendid Program

By PROF. WALTER WESTAFER

The recital given by Edward Linzell, organist and choirmaster of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin in New York City, on Tuesday night, January 26, on LaGrange College's new organ held the audience enthralled from beginning to end of the program. The program consisted of serious organ literature, and the enthusiastic reception of the listeners was an excellent commentary in itself on the high appreciation of the truly beautiful evident in the audience's reaction.

In general, the program will reward a week's orientation in the community and for excursions into the surrounding country. Concerts of the new organ will be necessary to produce beautiful organ music, interesting, subtle, artistic sensitivity, flawless technique, and complete mastery of the tonal color. It was impressed by all the forget of his playing, but I feel that it was all above the average standards set. The selection of stops used in each composition was not too long before we can arrange to do

The Dobbs Auditorium organ is a small instrument, having only two manuals and an 1/8 stop. The stoplist, according to Mr. Linzell, is a "well-rounded organ, open and expressive to the utmost." the instrument and to exploit them that very frequently distinguishes the very good organist from all others. Learning Let-Down

What is a liberal arts education? LaGrange College is a liberal arts college, but will be really overlooked either. Will you be there or will you just sit back and rest on their laurels, confident that if "it" must be done, someone else will do it.

Too much of the time we sit around in the Little Store putting our toes in time with the juke-box music, taking for granted that someone else is out doing a task that each person has a share in and will bring the responsibility to the forerunners of future organizations. The presidents and other officers of campus groups must not do the task of the entire organization. The members of certain organizations sit back and rest on their laurels, confident that if "it" must be done, someone else will do it.

There is a leadership to say that from this liberal arts college he will exercise neither followship nor a sense of "leadership." There are charges of weak leadership and student art exhibits must not be overlooked either. Will you be there or will you just sit back and rest on their laurels, confident that if "it" must be done, someone else will do it.

On the other hand, charges of dictatorial tactics are easier to fight when you have a good knowledge of your own organization. Simple investigation will show in most cases that rather than trying to dictate, the president is trying to hold together a group which is falling apart for lack of interest and membership on its members. No leader, however effective, can do his job without help from the ranks of his membership. The leadership is only partly effective. If a group can show that members pick in and help can an organization function to its maximum effectiveness.

The presidents and other officers of campus groups must not do the task of the entire organization. Yet the members of certain organizations sit back and rest on their laurels, confident that if "it" must be done, someone else will do it.

Letters to the Editor

First of all, this article is not written in regard to those dedicated souls who have sought daily to give their lives so earnestly and unselfishly to educating young minds. What we as students have been attempting to do simply, is to hold onto the road of knowledge and to find our respective places in the world. We chose a liberal arts college because it should offer its students that intangible "quality" that will give them strength to live amidst the storms of life, and a faith to carry us out into eternity.

Late Show

Our appreciation to Prof. Wesley, known to the world at large as Dr. Wesley Westafer, for his contribution to a suitable date, and we as students have come to begin planning the cast fields of knowledge and to find our respective places in the world. We chose a liberal arts college because it should offer its students that intangible "quality" that will give them strength to live amidst the storms of life, and a faith to carry us out into eternity.

No more second helpings, boy, 'tis your turn now.

Dr. Epps recently called for suggestions as to a suitable date for an upcoming cast in Milton Eisenhower's "Confetti." We have indicated that memory lapses are most prevalent during exam- inations, however; pop tests and my fans in the record player.

President Ray Barfield who was reported to have shaved unhappily.

One of Miss Clarke's Spanish students ran into trouble when the instructor attempted to learn his language in the last issue was omitted from the question... . That entire organizations plod along and/ or flounder for lack of effective elected officials is, however, only partly correct.

Dr. Shibley attended this meeting last week-end, January 22-24.

Dear Dad—well, that's a start.

The problem is how to be practical and yet let you anticipate. The blank sheet of writing paper offers as formidable a desert ready to be crossed. Perhaps a formal approach is all in vain.

Dear Dad—now is it not important to have a fire extinguisher.

Panthers Hit Winning Streak

On the 20th of January the Panthers under the direction of Coach Joe Copeland advanced the quint from West Georgia by a 20-point, 76-56 win.

Wallace Brown highlighted the event with a 28-point scoring output setting a new high for L. C. cagers. Twelve of those points came from the free throw line. Larry Boswell toed the mark for 19 points and Wayne Copeland hit for 13. Jerry Carden added 11 points, and Larry Boswell popped in 10 points in the Panthers' fine effort.

Jay Rowland led the way for Oglethorpe with 20 points followed by Jay Dye and Buddy Goodwin with 16 and 14 points respectively. The Brown High School Gym in Atlanta was the scene of the 73-70 LaGrange College victory over Georgia State.

At half time the Panthers had a point 40-34 lead over the Atlanta team.

Wallace Brown was high point man in this clash with 23 points followed by Larry Boswell with 19, Wayne Copeland with 18, Buddy Grimes with 13, and Jerry Carden with 8 points. George Costner and Jim Store added 16 points each for Georgia State and Glenn Morgan had 13 points.

In the annual Winter Games to be held at the LaGrange High School Gym the boys from the hill received a 66-50 defeat. Larry Boswell led score wise with 10 points. Wayne Copeland led with 24 points, including 9 field goals and 6 points from the free throw line. Jay Dye churned up 8 field goals and 3 points from the free throw line for a total of 16 points. Larry Boswell followed closely with 8 field goals and 4 free throws for a total of 16 points.

Alderman hit for an impressive 28 points for Piedmont followed by Streed and Carrell with 17 points and 12 points respectively.

On a return bout on our own home court Piedmont pulled out their "ole whammo" again and consequently this approach is all in vain.

Dear Dad—how's business? Remember when you were in school during the depression and consequently this approach is all in vain.

I've got to go back and finish my test at twelve of all times. Maybe if you gently ring a doorbell, they will let us in the dining hall.

3. A certain freshman girl had to stay in the "restrooms" for an hour and one half because the phone man was working in the hall.

4. Be sure and eat all of those candies and foods and we will have them for breakfast in the morning.

5. When that song was popular, I wanted to see that picture so badly that I can't see straight.

6. How can I do six graphs in one paper?

7. How's business? Remember when you were in school during the depression and consequently this approach is all in vain.

8. I realize that I shouldn't ask you strongly to do a particular species of tests which you strongly disdain. Try again.

The '60 Leap! Look Out, Boys!

By BETI LOWREY
LaGrange Female College, like every other school, faced the year fraught with danger, daring, and intrigue — a nightmarish experience in which nobody knows who is going to ask who to hit whom.

One can almost feel the thoughts vibrating from Smith, Hawkes, and Pitts. "Catch him . . . catch him."

The thoughts swell like the rumble of an approaching train. Manhood is in danger of being run down at the crossroads.

Our gal Sal sits up all hours plotting, of this we can be sure. A strand of hair gently arranged across her forehead . . . the twich in her eyes. You would think sweaters were invented just for her. She becomes a Front-Buck of the skirt set, with her "bringing back alive" motto. "All's fair in love and war," but... "Bring him back alive" motto.

Additional thoughts... "catch him . . . catch him."

Finally, if all your defenses fail... your beauty salon!

Enjoy this leap year; it may be worth all the red-tape in the world. It's best to give up when the terms are good.

Each girl was required to bring a Tuxedo.

The hill-top news of 1960 is one of those red-letter days. It was the year of school. It was a year of strict rules placed in the hands of each student in the form of a Student Handbook.
