SGA SETS UP SUMMER GOV'T

The Student Government Association set up a provisional organization for this 1962 session of summer school.

The chief difference in the summer policy of the SGA in comparison to the regular fall, winter, or spring quarters of school is that there will be a slightly looser enforcement of the rules here on the hill. Most of the rules given in the 1961-1962 handbook will be followed. A few exceptions will be found in these rules and in some of the summer traditions.

Neither boys nor girls are permitted to wear shorts to summer meals except on Friday evenings at supper and at all meals on Saturdays.

The girls are allowed eleven o'clock permission on week nights and twelve o'clock permission on weekends.

Rules will be enforced by the dormitory councils which are composed of the executive members of the S.G.A., and newly appointed dorm chairman and proctors. In addition to its forming a part of the dormitory councils, the executive branch of the S.G.A. will work this summer on the publication of the new handbook for this fall.

THE PROBLEM OF SUMMER DRESS

Summer is upon us again, and as usual, LaGrange is one of the hottest places in the state. To add to the students' discomfort, there is no building on campus that is air-conditioned. Now to the question at hand: Why not Bermuda shorts? It seems that a recent administrative ruling stated that a student cannot wear shorts of moderate length to classes. They can be worn only at Friday night meals and on Saturday to meals and around campus when not attending classes. This seems to be absurd! Does it really lower the dignity of the school? Is it really in bad social and cultural taste?

Summer school usually carries with it not only the usual amount of studying, but also a more casual and relaxed atmosphere. Are not some professors more lax in their dress during the summer than at other times? Not many professors really like to wear ties when it's 90 degrees outside, and neither do students like to wear long pants all the time when they can be more comfortable in other usually accepted attire.

I will agree that a student wearing Bermuda shorts with a tee shirt hanging out and with his usually traditional tennis shoes with no socks looks pretty sloppy. All that would need to be corrected would be that he tuck in his shirttails and buy himself a pair of white Gold Cup sox. If high society will accept a tuxedo Bermuda shorts outfit, then why can't LaGrange College? It is our opinion that the administration should leave the problem up to the individual professor...he should be the one to lay down the law one way or the other.

Equal rights should be given to both male and female students. It would not be fair for the boys to wear shorts and the girls not to wear them. Is the human anatomy really repulsive from the knee down? The students here last summer were permitted to be more casual in their attire, so why not this summer? At other institutions of higher learning these trivial matters seem to be neglected; so why does LC have to lag behind on her social attitudes when others are realizing that we are now living in another generation?

Let's look at it realistically, people. It's just too cotton-pickin' hot to worry about concealing the lower, lower extremity!
