10-year expansion plan
adopted by trustees

by CLARK STONE

What will LaGrange College be like in 1972?

The answer to this question was the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting on the campus Friday, Mr. B. W. Whorton of LaGrange, chairman of the board's long-range planning committee, presented a ten-year program of development and expansion, both academically and physically.

Mr. Whorton, who has been counsel for the board for 17 years, said the plans include the building of a vast amount of money and new students, both new and

One of the biggest programs sponsored by the SCA during the year is SCA Week, which took place this year from October 8th to 11th. This year the new students participated in a schedule of varied activities — an informal visit to a vaudeville program during which cabinet members will greet new students with the mission and projects of the committees, a movie at the theater in LaGrange, and an induction service during which students were given an opportunity to join a committee. These activities, along with other events, were available during SCA Week.

The SCA is planning some informal parties to be held on some weekends during the year, frightful events produced by many different students, a program each Thursday in the Fitch and a powder puff football game.

Student affairs group to meet Thursday on dining hall complaints

The Student Affairs Committee will meet Thursday, Oct. 18, to discuss the current problems concerning the cafeteria.

The committee will talk with the Student Affairs Committee representatives to each of the college's dining halls. They hope to work out a satisfactory solution for both Campus Chefs, Inc., and the cafeteria.

Accepting five new professors will be blind by 1966. The faculty now numbers 36, a ratio of 12.66 students to each professor.

Faculty salaries must continue to be kept to the program of academic offerings up to date and in line with this plan. The present curriculum at LC was described as "a strong one" by Mr. Whorton.

Adjuncts within department work to keep the program of academic offerings up to date.

The gallery will be open daily from 10:00-11:00 and from 1:00-5:00.

Serving on the Student Affairs Committee are Dr. Koyan, Miss Clark, Miss Hall, Miss Cockey, Dr. Haralson, Miss Coop, Mr. Hope and Mr. Sharp.

The Student Affairs Committee is executive director of the NA- SCA Friends Party on the following weekend.

During the week, the campus is packed with activities — an informal visit to a vaudeville program during which cabinet members will meet Thursday on dining hall complaints.

The guest speaker for the program was Dr. Wadsworth Henry, president of the college. That God is, that He is the Father, and that He is the center of all things were the main points of Dr. Henry's talk.

The gallery will be open daily from 10:00-11:00, and from 1:00-5:00.

B. S. U. to attend statewide convocation

The members of the Baptist Student Union of LaGrange College are now engaged in making plans to attend the statewide convention which will be held in Griffin, Georgia, October 26-28.

Write For The Scroll

All students have been encouraged by Brenda Jones, editor of the college literary magazine, to contribute for the fall issue.

The Scroll is published four times a year and features poetry and is written by students of LaGrange College.

The deadline for contributions for the fall issue is October 30.

Lisa Sergio, specialist and lecturer in international affairs, will be on the campus October 22-23.

Miss Sergio was recognized by the Student Christian Association as a key speaker in the national conference on the theme of the church's role in world affairs.
SCHOOL SPIRIT — WHERE IS IT?

In the two years I have been at LC, the school spirit has been mediocre. What can we do about it, you ask? Students, Marquetti, and I realize how hard the basketball team practices in order that they may play good ball for the school. The boys go out on the court and best their brains out to win a ball game and what do we have to show for it?

TO WHOM SHALL THEY GO?

The students of LaGrange College are caught in a most harrowing situation. To whom shall they take their problems?

The faculty and administration of our campus object to the current student criticism of the affairs of the college. Members of both the administration and the faculty feel that the student is so busy being critical of daily campus conditions and happenings that he does not notice (or if he notices, he says nothing of the merits of this fine liberal arts institution.

Students are severely critical, it is true, of those conditions, but if they feel such and can be improved corrected. Yet, this criticism is a healthy form of development for individual students and goals. It is when the persons hearing the criticisms are able to manipulate affairs but do nothing, that the students become enraged.

Yes, the students of LaGrange College have a problem. To whom shall they speak in order to be heard?

THE TIME HAS COME

BY MICKEY JOHNSON

The time has come for a little hard thinking by the students of this college. Before we get down to brass tacks, you should answer a few questions. One: Why are you in school? The answer will have to do with something about an education. Second: Are you GLAD you are going to LaGrange College, and are you proud of your school? If you are in the majority, your answer to that one will be no on both counts.

Everybody has to complain about something. It seems that one day cannot go by without somebody, Hilltop News included, criticising some campus function. The reason for all the criticism is quite simple: the students come here with a chip on their shoulder during the college to teach them something they don't already know. With this attitude and with the attitude, "I'm better than anybody else and you better stay out of my way if you don't want to be socially ostracised", the student is blinded to anything that might be good. We are so "dead-set" against the lousy food and service in the dining hall that we fail to recognize that we have a new dining hall at all.

Like the Hilltop News has said, we recognize the fact that everything is not right, but we also recognize that a lot of criticism is given just for the sake of criticism. If the majority of the students had half a care for this college, all campus organizations would flourish, there would be less people on probation, and college would be a lot easier to swallow.

Fellow students, it rests with you. Now, I'm not saying that our administration and faculty is always right. They might see a small profit since the new "little store" and sell them for about ten cents each. It might save some money, but it could be improved.

A letter to the editor

In replying to the letter to the editor in last week's paper on the washateria situation, I feel Mr. Ekern's views were well taken. People, for forty cents (which is the cost per lunch) purchase as good a meal as they would get for a hundred dollars. That the college lunchroom has been the whipping boy long enough. I would like to ask Mr. Ekern if he were never accused of having hot dogs and cold coffee, why is there not such a delicacy that the taste is a shock to his system.

The vast majority of students realize the problems entailed in preparing meals for six hundred students. Only a few are of the impatient and unsympathetic variety as Mr. Ekern's.

The so-called problem arises from the high degree of inactivity. I feel that what is needed more than better food and more prompt service is a mental development to bring about a mature enough level to be an integral part of college life.

Margarete Hartmann is a language major and plans especially honored with the presence of lovely Margarete Hartmann from Stuttgart, Germany. Margarete is a language major and plans to go to publishing work when she finishes her schooling. Prior to coming to LC, she attended Tubingen University for two and a half years. After spending a year here, she will return to Germany for three more years of intensive studies before taking state examinations for a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

When asked to compare Southern Germany with Georgia, Margarete stated that the weather here was a good deal warmer but that she was pleased with the South. She went on to say that the life in the northern states seemed to be more like "home" than here in LaGrange. "The life here (LaGrange) is much more relaxed." She also questioned Margarete about the separation of Eastern and Western Germany and how it affected life in Stuttgart. She answered by saying that many families were separated even though Stuttgart is about 250 miles from the border. At Christmas all families send many boxes of clothing and foodstuff to the Eastern sector because there is never enough there. She also said that the situation was even worse than reported in stories here in America.

Margarete ended by saying that she was very glad to be at LC and looked forward to her AB degree to show for her work here. She said too that she felt honored to have been selected for the Rotary Scholarship and hoped that she would live up to the Rotarian's expectations.

Religious Organizations

The LaGrange College campus is generously endowed with religious organizations which endeavor to promote Christian living. These organizations work to serve the student and to establish a close relationship between the students at college and the local churches. The Student Christian Association, an organization in which all students are members, serves to unite the religious activities and to form more dynamic interest in the various Christian Associations of the campus and the community. The SCA plans to hold regular vespers services in addition to its varied program of activities. The Baptist Student Union is an organization of the Baptist students on the campus and acts as a link between the local Baptist churches and the students on the Hill.

The Methodist Student Movement is an organization of the Methodist students from the college who strive to work closely with the local Methodist churches and their programs. The Pre- Ministerial Association is composed of those students who

They also serve

By Vincent Shaffer

In John Milton's famous poem, "On His Blindness," Milton ends with these words: "They also serve who only stand and wait." Milton knew the full meaning of these words as he had a very tragic experience in the prime of his life. Milton was just coming into his own when he suddenly lost his sight. Living in a world of darkness, he now became mad and bitter at the world and at God. One day, however, he came to know Jesus Christ as he had never known Him before. His life took on new meaning and he went on to write Paradise Lost and, later, Paradise Regained.

Milton realized that he had a handicap but he also realized that he was a child and servant of God. He realized that every person has a job to do in life and this job should be done for the glory of God.

We may not all be great poets or preachers or singers, but we are all children of God. We may serve Christ by doing our best to live up to what we believe to be right.

"They also serve who only stand and wait." Will you be serving your God this year?

Fraternity football begins at fast pace

By STEDDY GLISSON
Sports Editor

On October 4 the football season officially got underway with a game between Gamma Phi Alpha and Sigma Nu Pi. The final score was 6 to 9 in favor of Sigma Nu.

The entire first half of the game matched the strength of each defense. The game was "nip and tuck" right down to the last wire. With only three plays remaining in the game and none left on the goal line, the ball was finally turned over to Nat Long, who had been credited with a blocked punt and an interception pass, Gamma Phi turned both into touchdowns.

In the second half the tide turned and Gamma Phi got into the scoring column. Taking advantage of a blocked punt and an interception pass, Gamma Phi turned both into touchdowns. The scoring came on an end run by John Gipson, two passes from John Gipson to Collier Westmoreland, and two passes from John Gipson to Bill Smith.

Outstanding players in the game were John Gipson, Bill Smith, Collier Westmoreland, Ted Whitman, Dave Turner, and Jim McClendon.

LC Panthers In Strong Contention For G. I. A. C. Title

By STEDDY GLISSON
Sports Editor

The Panthers of Ole LC seem to be the dark horse in the G. I. A. C. With a new coach who is well known all over the south and with some of the best material from both high schools and colleges in this part of the nation, the Panthers will be a threat to every adversary.

With six returnees from the 1961 season, three transfers, and three freshmen, we, the students at LC, can expect great things from these boys during the 1962 basketball season. Coach Mariotti has gone throughout Georgia and even into South Carolina looking for boys whom he considers to be good material for college basketball.

We are wholeheartedly behind Coach Mariotti’s Panthers in the coming season. This is his rookie year as a college coach and we are expecting great things from him and his boys.

WAA begins season with volleyball

The first intramural volleyball game of the season between sororities will be played October 22.

Freshmen and transfer students have organized teams to compete with security teams. Volleyball intramural credits will be given to every winner in the various competitive sports. Trophies are given for the big winner. The E. A. Bailey Cup is given to the fraternity for the big winner.
