Editor To Dedicate Yearbook
In Chapel Program Wednesday

by LAURA JOHNSTON

The 1963 edition of the college yearbook, The Quadrangle, will be dedicated and presented to the student body in a special ceremony during the chapel program tomorrow.

Sue Goebel, the editor of the annual, will read the dedication and present a copy of the annual to the person to whom it is dedicated. She will also give a short demonstration of the theme of this year's annual.

The speaker for the chapel program will be the Rev. Bernhard W. Hussee, the District Superintendent of the Atlanta-Atlanta District of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Sison served previously at the Druid Hills Methodist Church in Atlanta and is also a member of the Board of Trustees of LaGrange College.

ALUMNI CLUB SETS FASHION VOGUE

The LaGrange Alumni Club will have a haphazard fashion show on Saturday, May 18, at 1:00 p.m. This will be their last meeting of the year. The fashion show is entitled "Elegies of LC," and this program will be narrated by Rona Fling Mitchell, who attended LaGrange College and graduated in the class of '34. She is the fashion co-ordinator of Bobbie Brooks, Inc.

The models will be members of the LaGrange Alumni Club and their children. Fashions from the past will also be modeled and door prizes, including several complete Bobbie Brooks outfits, will be given away.

Included in the program will be the election of the officers for next year.

Advanced Registration Is Easy
With Newly Installed Procedures

Last Thursday and Friday were very important days for many LaGrange College students, for these were the days in which they had to register for summer and fall quarters, 1963.

Before this period, registration was locked on by the students as a time when several hours would be wasted standing in line outside the Simpson Room in the gymnasium.

However, some very important changes were made this quarter which made registration more pleasant. The most important of these changes was allowing the juniors and seniors to register first. This permitted the underclassmen to take the subjects which they need for graduation. It helped the underclassmen as well, by cutting down the number of people who were registering at the same time.

The new system of insuring that the correct number of students were registered well, by cutting down the number of people who were registering at the same time.

The administration has announced that there will be a tuition increase of $50 per quarter beginning next fall. This will bring the total, as listed in the college catalog, up to $450 a quarter.

There are various reasons for this increase, all of which would require extensive research. However, a few details might explain why this increase was necessary. One would have to fully understand the over-all view of the college's budget in order to see what is spent and where.

Dr. Allen, Dean Harwell, and Dr. Blanks discuss registration procedure.

JOURNALISTS HEAR TOWNSEND

"It's not the ATLANTA MAGAZINE'S job to puff up Atlanta, but to tell others, business men in particular, what Atlanta is really like," James L. Townsend, editor of the magazine, told members of the LaGrange College publications staff Friday night.

In discussing the magazine, Townsend showed slides illustrating points of layout and style. A new feature at this year's banquet was the presentation of the Most Outstanding Hilltop News Staff Member Award to Wilton Blumberg for his work as Business Manager. Kays were presented to other staff members of The Hilltop News and the Quadrangle by their editors, Virgil Howard of the News and Sue Goebel of the Quadrangle.

Brenda Jones, editor of the Scroll, recognized her fellow staff members.

Miss Howard also presented Alan Townsend, editor of the News, with a plaque for his "tireless work with the News staff."

Special guests at the affair were members of the LC Faculty Publications Committee, represented by Dr. Charles Allen, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Rigsby, Professor of Social Studies, Dr. Zachary Taylor, Quadrangle advisor; and Mr. Alan Thomas, Hilltop News advisor.

MUSIC MAJORS GIVE PROGRAM; PREPS SET FOR SUNDAY IN DOBBS

Dr. Toombs Kay and student thespians of the college will be presented in recital at the Dobbs Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, May 19, at 3:30 p.m. in Dobbs Auditorium.

John Shibley and student of Miss Kathleen Cline, has also cut down on much of the confusion. By putting all the registration procedures on a blackboard, the administration has eliminated a lot of unnecessary work and trouble for the students as well as for themselves.

Giac Follows LC Grant Lead

The Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference has liberalized its scholarship policies previously restricting full grants of room, board and tuition to athletes. The action was taken by the representatives of seven member colleges at a meeting May 4 at Berry College.

Last January LC was removed by the GIAC because scholarships offered to students had exceeded limits of the GIAC rules. At that time Coach Al Marotti stated that he had made it clear to the conference in a previous meeting that LC had gone beyond the rule of limiting the scholarships to tuition only.

The new rules adopted by the GIAC conform to the standards of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and will permit the seven member colleges of the GIAC to bolster and maintain conference competition according to Larry Taylor of Berry, who is current president of GIAC.

After the revision meeting Coach Al Marotti, who was elected vice-president of the conference, stated, "We are very pleased with the conference decision. This certainly strengthens the conference and competition, and it will add prestige to it."

JOHNSON, NEW TAKE ELECTIONS

Men's Athletic Association has elected last year's vice-president, James Allen New, as its new president. New won the presidential position over Taylor Newton, 150 to 124, last week.

In the number two spot, 174 votes were cast for Randy Edgar.

FEES INCREASE - THE REASON WHY

By JERRY BEALDLE

The administration has announced that there will be a tuition increase of $50 per quarter beginning next fall. This will bring the total, as listed in the college catalog, up to $450 a quarter.

There are various reasons for this increase, all of which would require extensive research. However, a few details might explain why this increase was necessary. One would have to fully understand the over-all view of the college's budget in order to see what is spent and where.

It is hard to place a finger on any exact category contributing to an increase in fees. However, the reasons can be narrowed down to these four facts: (1) Teacher replacements; (2) Additional students; (3) New buildings and the increase of maintenance and supplies; and (4) Replacement of equipment.

First in a series of articles to explain our tuition increase, we will discuss the first two categories, and then follow with the last two.

Fees are now paid by the student, not the college. If all students paid the full tuition, $174,500 would be the total. Since all students, the college has made a grant of $90,000 to students, $184,500 would be spent. Warren Shatzer, former administrative assistant at the college, told the students that this grant is made in order to "better the students' educational opportunities."

A college student recital is presented at the end of each quarter as a means of giving the student the opportunity to perform before an audience as well as to test his musical ability.

The program on Monday night, May 20, will include organists Sharon Crawford, David Heck, Jackie Reaves; pianists George Culver, Margaret Lane, Elizabeth Robertson; vocalists Jimmy Jackson, Harriette Kuhr, Dixie Land, Kathryn Merritt, Mary Snow, Janey Yarbrough.

The music department also sponsors preparatory student recitals in which elementary and high school music students of the music faculty are given the opportunity to perform. On Friday night, May 17, Ann Kay, daughter of Dr. Robert Kay and student of Miss Katherine Cline, and Reva Shibley, daughter of Dr. John Shibley and student of Miss Cline, will be presented in recital. Piano recitalists of Mrs. Paul Dorner, Mrs. Max Estes, Miss Katherine Cline, and Miss Elizabeth Shibley will make their contribution Monday, May 20, at 8 p.m. in Dobbs Auditorium.
New BSU Heads Meet Director
On May 14 at 1:30 a.m., Mr. Bruce, Director of Student Housing, met with the general council of the B.S. U. to discuss local, district, and state plans. The new officers of the B.S. U. are as follows: president — Helen Ainsworth, vice-president — Valentine Chambless; secretary — Gary Brown; publicity — Curtis Chapman; and treasurer — Daniel Satterfield.

Political Speaking
by MICKEY JOHNSON

The trouble with writing a political column is that you always have to take back what you’ve said. Recently I pleaded Nelson Rockefeller as the 1964 Republican Presidential nominee. This, as I now see, was a mistake.

List Saturday at 11 noon, therefore, those two facts that took him out of politics for ever. Those words were “I do.” He said them in New York State and soon thereafter became the husband of a divorced Philadelphia woman. This information was immediately published in the newspapers. This is what directed toward improving chapel. Some of the suggestions that were made included: better organization, more attention to chapel itself, some from the administration; others from the students and students involved in chapel. The petition was then submitted.

The issue here is neither for or against chapel. The chapel requirement is not, nor should it be, open to debate. We as a community here can be seen manifested in three areas, each of which arise from the argument of pro or con chapel.

First, there is the fact that something is being done. The entire college community recognizes the need for effective reorganization of the system of chapel programs for individual, cultural, and spiritual expansion. The opposition lies in the manner in which this opportunity has not always been fulfilled. The problem here lies in the program which is being made promises that this hour each week will fulfill the expectations of students, faculty, and administration.

A second factor of importance is that this revision has been discussed to the students. No member of the student body has been tricked or cajoled, no one has been deceived and no wood has been pulled. The entire college had an opportunity to hear the committee report and to listen to an explanation of all its facets.

The final point, and perhaps the most important, is that students were given the freedom to participate in this revision process.Student opinions have been solicited and will be considered under consideration if submitted. All suggestions will be given a fair hearing.

These changes are in a positive direction. They deserve encouragement. The College community should appreciate these opportunities of participation he is offering and benefit himself and the college.

OH! YOU Haven’t HEARD OF SUCH A THING?
Oh! You haven’t heard of such a thing? This is a time in which the Press of the Daily Times wants nobody, including the students, to know that the starting salaries of graduates of Liberal Arts colleges are much lower than that of engineering graduates, but it has recently been said to me by an insurance man, a C. L. U., that usually within five years their salaries are about equal, and that in ten years the Liberal Arts graduate surpasses that of the engineer. I suppose Dr. Johnson was talking about because he was quoting some recent statistics on this subject.

program. In the coming year, New Students are excited to see what MAA can accomplish.

On Tuesday of last week, the sophomores class elected Mickey Johnson president of their class for the 1963-64 school year. In the vice-president’s spot is Randy Edgar, Donna Howell is secretary of the class and through the outgoing year and co-treasurers are Lane Tullis and David Hollowell. Ann McDonald and Chuck Stevens are the class co-secretary.

Johnson said he hopes to make the little and big brother tradition more effective next year.
Alumni Respond To Telethon Call And Pay

The results of the April 22 Telethon, held by the LaGrange Alumni Club, are not known yet, but Mrs. Carolyn Burgess stated, "We are confident that only one or two exceptions will prevent the LC Alumni's succeeding in their endeavor for 1899 participation in the Living Endowment Fund."

The alumni responded with enthusiasm to the Telethon to the tune of 124 people, who have sent in $987, and more contributions are expected since the fiscal year does not close until June 30. Mrs. Burgess also stated that the first 124 people's "demonstration of loyalty to the college will certainly encourage others to respond in like manner."

Clubs Have Joint Callaway Outing

The regular May meeting of the University of Georgia's Callaway Outing was held by the LaGrange Alumni Club on Sunday, May 19, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the LaGrange College Alumni House. The outing was attended by several members of the Callaway Outing and the LaGrange College Alumni Club.

The event was held to promote the Callaway Outing and to encourage alumni to support the college. It was a successful event, and the organizers are looking forward to hosting more events in the future.

Wash-And-Wear Student

For once, says a letter to the editor of THE WESTERN MIS- TIC, Mercer State College, Macon, Miss. Annette is an enthusiastic member of the college. She is an expert on sports but is not interested in technological work. She hopes he won't have to think of getting a college degree bear- able. He probably will tell his child- ren about the exciting, stimulating life he led at college. He will say, "It was the place that made me the man I am now."
Loss To W. G. Ends Net Season For LC Panthers

by MICKEY JOHNSON

LaGrange College’s 1963 tennis season ended last Friday with a losing match with West Georgia. With this final game, the Panthers came out with a 4-4 conference record and a 4-6 over-all tally.

In the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference, LC netters won four conference games, two to West Georgia and two to North Georgia outside of the conference. The Panthers suffered defeat at the hands of Emory-at-Oxford twice and Columbia Theological Seminary twice.

The top three men on this year’s tennis squad were all newcomers to the LC courts. Chuck Nixon, Colby Mosier, and Glenn Lord, all freshmen, were the top tennis men. Following behind them were Jimmy News, Taylor Newton, and Jimmy Matthews.

Nixon and Mosier traveled to Rome a week ago to compete in the conference finals. The two as a doubles team made the semi-finals, and Nixon made it to the semi-finals in the singles match.

Kappa Phi Cops Softball Tourney

Kappa Phi Delta has won the softball tournament in the girls intramural program. Kappa Phi, who has not lost a game this spring, defeated Alpha Kappa Theta by a score of 21 to 7 last Wednesday.

Alpha Kappa Theta won second place in the tournament. They defeated Alpha Phi Beta 31 to 10 in a game which took two days to complete.

Champs, All-Stars Set For Tilt

At five-thirty today the All-star softball team, chosen from the oldest players of Pi Delt and Sigma Nu, will meet this year’s number-one team, Gamma Phi, for the annual MAA All-star softball game.

It promises to be an exciting afternoon with these two star-studded teams taking the field. Gamma Phi will maintain its usual lineup, trusting these men who have put the team on top of the softball pile this year to lead them to victory against the All-stars.

Strong-armed pitcher Sam Clippin will climb the mound to hurl the fat rock to catcher Gary Dunwoody.

Stretching from the first sack will be John Glasson. The D. P. combination will be Bobby Witcher at short and Bob Bailey as the second baseman. Young will be scooping grounders in the hot corner.

The outfield positions will be manned by Bill Smith at center, Joe McGowen in left, and either Larry Tillison or Noel Smith in right.

Outstanding players for Gamma Phi this year have been Bill Smith, who covers center field like a circus tent and Gary Dunwoody, always steady behind the iron mask.

Shortstop Witcher, commenting on the efforts of the year, stated that the game against Sigma Nu when Gamma Phi won 11-0 was the best contest that his team played. In that game Gamma Phi fielded a perfect game. He also remarked that the 11-2 victory over Pi Delt was a fine game for the team. In that game only two errors were committed by the Gamma Phi team. In the opposing dugout will be the Gamma Phi stick men, commentating on the game, said, “We will be playing the same lineup as the regular season. There will be no changes. We will be counting on our defense to hold us up.”

From all predictions it will be a close game. Bob Bailey, outstanding Gamma Phi stick man, said, “It will be the best game of the year. We are looking for a low score.”

It is only an error of judgment to make a mistake, but it argues an infirmity of character to adhere to it when discovered. — Moore
