Graduate Record
Exams To Be Given
In November

The deadline for seniors who plan to graduate in the fall of 1963 or in the winter of 1964 to apply to take the Graduate Record Examinations is Monday, Oct. 28.

The GRE is a requirement for a graduation and must be taken by all seniors who plan to graduate this quarter or next quarter. Academic Dean C. Lee Harwell emphasized that those seniors who plan to graduate next spring and who are planning to apply for graduate school, a fellowship, or an assistantship, and who are required to submit GRE scores will find that their application must also take the examinations this quarter.

The GRE, which will be given on the 18th and 19th of November this year, will not be offered again until next spring.

Any student who has taken the tests before and wishes to take them again may do so.

The dean specified that seniors taking the tests must inform personnel in his office of the subject in which they wish to take the exams. Students taking the tests are to come by the dean's office before the deadline date of Monday, Oct. 28.

Sophomores who are to take the test will be notified through the campus mail.

Charges for the tests are as follows:

Sophomores will be charged $3.50 to take the General Culture Tests. Seniors will be charged $5.50 to take the Graduate Record Examinations. For homecoming Queen To Be Judged By Nine Well Known Judges plans for the 1963 LaGrange College Homecoming are getting into the final phase with the judging for Homecoming Queen tomorrow night. Twenty-one campus beauties have been entered by campus organizations. The judging for the queen will take place in the Simpson Room tomorrow night, following a dinner for the judges and the candidates. Judges for this year's queen are: Mr. James S. Peters, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. John B. Tate of LaGrange, the Wise woman on the panel. The contestants will be judged on beauty, poise, and personality. A queen, a maid-of-honor, and two attendants will be chosen by the panel.

The identity of the queen and her court will be revealed this Thursday morning at ten o'clock on the LaGrange College radio station, WCOB. Changes for the change this year is to give the queen adequate time to prepare and involve special guests, and also to allow a maximum amount of publicity to be given to the queen, her court, and WCOB's radio, television, and newspapers will be on hand for the announcement.

Mrs. Melson Attends Library Conference

Mrs. D. P. Melson, head librarian, will attend the Biennial Conference of Library Association to be held at Jekyll Island on October 16-18. There the Mrs. Melson will give the report of the nominating committee for the incoming officers of the college and university section. This section will hear a panel on Administrators, Faculty, Library Relations. Dr. Guy Lyle's new book, The President, the Professor, and the College Library, will provide a stepping stone into the discussion. Dr. Lyle was consulted for our library building.

At present, Mrs. Melson is member of the Academic Advisory Committee, Secretary of the LaGrange District Wesleyan, Serving Guild, president of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church, and teacher of an adult Sunday School class.

Brooks Hays To Speak On Campus Next Week

By Janet Taylor

Through the efforts of Dean Harwell, LaGrange College has secured as its Religion-in-Life speaker the Honorable Brooks Hays, Special Assistant to President Kennedy, former Congressman from Arkansas, as the keynote speaker for the “LaGrange Convention,” to be held on the campus next week.

Mr. Hays is in great demand as a speaker for church, civic, and college groups. LaGrange College is fortunate to have a man of Mr. Hays' caliber.

The Religion-in-Life series is scheduled for Thursday, October 31, and Friday, November 1. The morning session will meet at 10 a.m. in Dobbs Auditorium. Attendance is required. Information concerning the time and place for the evening sessions will be published in the Hilltop News next week.

LC Welcomes Old Grads

By Janet Taylor

One of Troup County's most famous sons who was a foremost authority on Southern history, will be commemorated here on Nov. 4 with the erection of a marker by the Georgia Historical Commission.

The memory of Dr. U. B. Phillips, noted historian, author, and teacher, will be honored with a ceremony on campus on the 86th anniversary of his birth in LaGrange.

Dr. Bell I. Wiley of Atlanta, distinguished professor of history at Emory University and one of Dr. Phillips' former students, will address the campus gathering, set for the quadrangle at 11 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 4.

Gov. John Sanders, Lt. Gov. Peter Zach Geer, other state and local officials, and other dignitaries have been invited to the event.

Before his death in 1934, Dr. Phillips taught 22 years to teaching at the following universities: Wisconsin, Tulane, Michigan, and Yale.

Particularly known for his study of the antebellum South, Prof. Phillips emphasized the social and economic aspects of the region's development. He was the first, he has been called, the definitive use of original plantation records.

Alums Head For Campus

This Saturday graduates and friends of LaGrange College will come to the campus in considerable numbers.

The opportunity that both the students of the College and those who are visiting will have only occurs once a year.

Only once a year do the graduates and the friends of the college get this chance to renew old friendships and to see again classmates and professors that they have not seen since the previous year.

This is a one-shot chance for the students also.

Only once a year is there this opportunity to thank these graduates and friends for their interest and support. The glad hand and the good-time Charlie routine is not so necessary, but a smile and a hello can go a long way.

A college such as this could not exist without the support of such people as will be here Saturday. We thank them for that support.

SOMETHING TO HOPE FOR

The new freshman class is off to a good start. They have had one meeting, taken care of the routine work, and dispensed with Homecoming.

Now what?

Instead of slipping into the nitch of conformity like so many have often happened in the past, will the new freshman class show some initiative? We certainly hope so, for their opportunity is golden. Up to this point, precedents have been broken right and left, but let's not stop now.

It isn't a completely foreign idea for a class to have projects, to render some service to the school and the community. If they decide to excel, to rise above the mediocre, they will break a precedent that has stood too long at LC. It is the hope of The Hiltop News that the new organized class will "jump on the bandwagon" and show some progress. They have the chance to make something out of a class.

CFSA
Initiation Policy

Editor's Note:

The College Fraternity Secretaries Association recently published a letter in which it stated its position in support of constructive educational and inspirational programs and asserting its opposition to "hazing and pre-initiation activities which do not contribute to the positive development and welfare of pledges and members. This letter was signed by members of the LaGrange College Pan-Hellenic Council. Excerpts from this letter are printed below for the benefit of Freshmen and non-Freshmen members.

The Association believes, despite the fact that much progress has been made, that one of the most damaging instruments to the fraternity system is the employment of a program of education where the atmosphere of moral, spiritual, and intellectual values consistent with the ideals and teachings.

The Association urges its members and their fraternities that they continue to approach their undergraduate members with the seriousness that they are mature, intelligent and self-governing men and that they alone can eradicate hazing in all its varied forms.

We feel that the fraternities and Pan-Hellenic Councils are ready to take action and strengthen their programs for the development in men of a sense of responsibility and the appreciation of moral, spiritual, and intellectual values consistent with their ideals and teachings.

Proctors Break the Rules

The college has been in session for a little over four weeks and there is a situation on campus that is deplorable. I am referring to the game that is played in the cafeteria. It is called by many names but for my purposes I shall call the game "let's break in line!"

I am sure that most students don't really mind if someone breaks in line for a good reason, but the reason should not be for just getting ahead.

Proctors? Generally, some are in the cafeteria at the time they are supposed to take action against the offenders. Occasionally, one of them gives a demerit or two. And my good readers, do you know when this is done? It is done when the offender breaks in front of the proctor. Very seldom will you ever see one give out a demerit in any other instance.

There are a few who will not do any wrong. I have seen a couple of these in the cafeteria. They don't care if someone breaks in line and then to the dismay of the students behind him allows them to break in front of the proctor. Generally, some are in the cafeteria at the time they are supposed to take action against the offenders. Occasionally, one of them gives a demerit or two. And my good readers, do you know when this is done? It is done when the offender breaks in front of the proctor. Very seldom will you ever see one give out a demerit in any other instance.

I have seen a certain sophomore proctor break in line so many times that I have finally given up counting. This particular proctor, will break in line and then to the dismay of the students behind him allows them to break in front of the proctor. The proctor was the same one who became upset when some freshmen barged in front of him. Naturally they were told that they would receive some demerits.

It would not be a bad idea for the SGA Legislative Council to look into the possibility of letting the students working in the cafeteria be able to give out demerits in the cafeteria. It is highly obvious that the proctors aren't doing their job. After a while they will probably continue until some bright soul in the Legislative Council gets the "original idea" that it is time for something to be done about the situation.

"Our Best Years"

By Mickey Johnson

And so there are "the last years of our lives." They may be, but the college student is facing problems that in comparison make Dickey's "Inferno" look like Disneyland.

"The Saturday Evening Post" in a recent article reported that 30% of all American college students are seeking psychiatric help, and that the second most common cause of death among our age group is suicide. These, indeed, are a-la-Dante numbers. The "Post" wonders if LaGrange College is separated by some magic curtain that shields us from the events and pressures that give them the illusion.

Why do college students commit suicide, run away from home, and become chronic alcoholics before they are 25? One major factor is not the student himself but the gloating parent. No doubt many of us come to college with emotional words ringing in our ears about making the dean's list, excelling in all activities, etc. Parents, blessed as they are, often times ignore the realities of college life. The human factors are often forgotten in the righteous list that their child is capable of being Einstein, Dylan Thomas, and George Washington all rolled into one.

The holy, allmighty grade-point average is elevated to limitless heights. It is the height they will be given with and with us the power to conquer the world. But here we must leave our parents and shift part of the blame to those in our halls and universities. Run all too many times, college administrations concern themselves to such a degree with grades, probation and absences that they forget that the lowly student with a head full of Roosevelt is just as much mortal. College administrations today regard students as a grade book and figures on an absence tally. Many leaders have forgotten that people learned things for ages without one grade. They also are making a dean's list.

Student problems are not all academic or parental, however. One major problem is that today's campus is one of identity. When the stumblng freshman arrives on campus he is faced with a wide choice. Should he abandon all habbits that have been taught in favor of conformity andmadras, or should he continue to live according to what he thinks is right? Should he think for himself or let the crowd think for him.

Identity with someone or some group can have adverse consequences. The student not only worries about "acceptance," he often finds himself in a position where his college career on madras with a loop. This worry can lead to academic as well as emotional trouble. Too many times the student gets drunk on alcohol or dope. This fails to bring relief, the lonely student is about to get his tray the person in front of him allows a group to break in line so many times that I have finally given up counting. This particular proctor, will break in line and then to the dismay of the students behind him allows them to break in front of the proctor. Naturally they were told that they would receive some demerits.

Amendments To Pan-Hellenic Constitution Passed At Meetings

Four amendments have been made to the Pan-Hellenic constitution at the last two Tuesday night council meetings. All of the organizations and the advisors were present, but some of the representatives had alternates take their place at the meetings.

Three amendments were proposed to the 1963 Constitution. They are as follows:

Article VIII, Section 4b:
Now reads: One member shall have the power to hold off the vote.
Amend as follows: One member shall have the power to hold off the vote until the next meeting of the council.

Article IX, Section 2a:
First line now reads: All rush activities shall end three weeks...
Amend as follows: All scheduled rush activities shall end three weeks...

Article IX, Section 3b:
Amend by adding: Each bid shall be accompanied by a mini- tureographed form for the rusher's use in accepting or rejecting the bid.

Article X, Section 2:
Amend by inserting between first and second sentences: He or she must notify the organization in writing of his or her resignation in order to be eligible for reeligitation.

Michel Johnson, chairman of the Homecoming activities, reported to the council on plans for that weekend. He also requested that the fraternity and sorority leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments. He also requested that the leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments.

Dr. Jones, Pan-Hellenic advisor, presented a platform of rules that all national Greeks use in the initiation of pledges. He also requested that the leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments. He also requested that the leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments.

The council was also asked to inform their respective organizations of the time and place of their meetings. This rule concerning required meetings does not apply to extra or called meetings. Dr. Jones also reminded the leaders that the Greeks and sororities must meet with their respective organizations.

Members of the Physics Department presented a platform of rules that all national Greeks use in the initiation of pledges. He also requested that the leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments. He also requested that the leaders from the various schools be kept informed of developments.

The catalog gave little of the details, but a free camera certainly isn't anything to scoff at. The order went in and the Physics Department said that this will be the biggest Homecoming ever.

Best Homecoming Event Predicted For This Year

A parade, alumni-varsity basketball game, dance, alumni banquet, and class reunions highlight the 1963 Homecoming at LaGrange College, to be this Saturday, October 26.

LOVELY SUZANNE CLERKE is this week's Sweetheart of The Hill. Suzanne is a senior in the college and is majoring in General Science.

LaGrange College To Get Valuable Prize Painting

By Barbara Green

Beginning Oct. 27 and continuing through Nov. 3, Callaway Gardens will be the site of an art exhibit and symposium sponsored by the Chattahoochee Valley Art Association, Callaway Gardens, and LaGrange College.

Artists from all over the southeast have sent entries to the exhibit. At some time before the beginning date, the paintings which will be shown will be selected.

Many area colleges and universities are also participating in the exhibit. The University of Alabama, University of Georgia, Auburn University, and Georgia State College are among those who will be represented.

According to Mrs. J. V. Schilling, planning for the exhibit was begun about a year ago. She said, "This is a rare opportunity to learn about painting and other forms of art. This is the first time in this area that there has been such a high caliber show and symposium. My only regret is that people may not recognize this and take advantage of it."

There will be a first prize of $1,000 for the best painting in the show. This painting will be given to LaGrange College to begin a collection. In addition to the $1,000 first prize, Callaway Gardens will buy $1,000 worth of paintings to be hung in the Holiday Inn at the Gardens. Paintings may be entered any time before the deadline date of Oct. 24 by taking them to Callaway Gardens.

Value Of L. C. Degree Shown By Graduate Tests

By Cindy Bennett

The first in a series of articles dealing with the comparative value of an L.C. degree.

The Graduate Record Examinations taken by all LaGrange College students during their senior year are administered by college officials under the auspices of the Institutional Testing Program. The main objectives of the tests are two-fold: to determine the general intellectual growth of each student through his study of the liberal arts, and to determine the achievement of some degree of specialization in a selected field of study. One of the requirements at LaGrange College is successful completion of these examinations. The GRE is divided into two test areas. The Advanced Tests yield measures for evaluating mastery in selected fields of study, i.e., in the student's major. The GRE is useful in evaluating the student's performance on the achievement tests and in predicting the student's academic success. All three tests are taken on designated dates by members of the senior class.

Results of these tests, furnished by the Dean's office, bring to light information which concerns LaGrange College students. The test results show that in all areas of the three tests, the mean score of LaGrange College students is generally in keeping with scores made by students in other colleges in the south.

The fact that the test mean is considerably higher than the LC mean is generally in keeping with other southern students, brings up the fact that the level of southern education is inferior to national standards.
Personalities On Campus ....

Do You Know "Tink"

refer to her as Jean Jackson. If you still don't know her you should try to, because she's one of those who make LaGrange College a friendly school.

Along with her great personality, she also has an incredibly tireless energy scholastically. Her major is pre-med, and as for her plans for the future she stated, "I haven't decided, but I'm planning to go into medical technolgy." Her schedule this quarter is an eye opener: 125 Chemistry, 125 Biology, and Organic Chemistry. She ceased quite a stir on campus last spring by making an A in Biology 101. When quizzed about these science courses, she said, "I enjoy it!"

Jean was born and raised in Atlanta. She attended Bain High School, where she was active in various organizations and business manager of the annual. An experience which she says "I wouldn't give anything to this world for" was in 1959 when she went to the Glen Scott Roadtrip in Colorado. She enjoys the outdoors; "Bouling, camping, and things like that.

When a junior in high school, Jean visited LaGrange College and liked it, so she decided to attend. When she was a freshman she was treasurer of her class, when a sophomore she was secretary of the Student Government, on the BOA cabinet, and represented the MAA in the Homecoming court, and now a junior, she will represent Circle K in the Homecoming court. Jean is a member of the AKO society.

New Committee To Handle
Student Affairs at LC

The Student Affairs and Faculty Advisory Committee originated with the beginning of the Fall 1963 term. In an effort to put the reins on the number of faculty members involved in faculty members, but committee members were still resolved to draw up a state-mint definition of the committee's purpose. The two subsequent meetings were used for the discussion of various campus affairs which were later brought to the attention of committee members by either students or faculty members, but committee members
were still resolved to draw up a state-mint definition of the committee's purpose.

At the October 15, 1963, meeting, committee members present approved the following statement of purpose for the Student Affairs and Faculty Advisory Community. This committee is a coordinating body. It is composed of a group of faculty members who have been appointed by the Academic Dean of the College to serve as a deliberative or reviewing group, a discussion group, a decision making group, a problem solving group, or in any capacity in which a faculty committee may be needed to serve individuals or groups of faculty or students when no other committee exists to serve some particular campus affair. The committee will meet regularly at 10 a.m. on the second Tuesday of each month and call meetings will be held when necessary. Students or faculty members who wish to meet with the committee for discussion of particular problems may request to do so, or the committee may invite students or faculty members to visit in order to present information, problems, or points of view.

The opinions of the committee will be given in writing upon the request of those who seek to serve. In return, the groups would like to be informed whethern or not its opinions were acceded and be given an evaluation of its service.

GAMMA PHI AND SIGMA NU TO BATTLE AT IMPORTANT GAME THIS AFTERNOON

By Clark Stone

Sigma Nu Pi defeated Pi Kappa 12-6 last week to take undisputed hold of second place and set the stage for today's Sigma Nu-Gamma Phi game. A Sigma Nu win would put the two teams on a tie for first place.

Sigma Nu's Ted Alford gained for two touchdowns, one to Charlie Knight and one to Billy Joe Hyatt. Pi Delta's lone TD was a pass from Ted Whitman to Jerry Jones.

In the first quarter Pi Delta's Randy Edgar took a long pass from Whitman deep into Sigma Nu territory. A pass to Joe Naylor in the end zone was called back because Pi Delta was off sides. The Sigma Nu defense toughened and held Pi Delta short of the final stripe.

After intermission Pi Delta came back, received the kickoff and drove for their only score. A pass to Taylor Newton set the ball on the 30, and an all-out effort by Jerry Jones was enough to score. Pi Delta's PAT was no good.

Sigma Nu fought back quickly, hitting Billy Joe Hyatt deep in Pi Delta land and once again in the end zone. Again the PAT was no good.

In an attempt to score, with only five plays remaining in the game, Pi Delta called a "sleeper play" — a long pass to Randy Edgar. But the play was called back by the officials because of violation of an unwritten rule of telling the officials about a "sleeper." After the Pi Delta kick-off, Sigma Nu sat on the ball four for the win.

GAMMA PHI VS SIGMA NU: SECOND GAME OF SERIES

GAMMA PHI WINS SEQUEL BY 2-0

The eight cheerleaders selected are: Brenda Aldridge, Deiga Parker, Judy Thomason, Sandi Turner, John Carter, Sidney Johnston, Fred Stokes, and Mike Walters.

Eight full-time Panther supporters were chosen last week by the student body of LaGrange College. The eight cheerleaders selected are: Brenda Aldridge, Deiga Parker, Judy Thomason, Sandi Turner, John Carter, Sidney Johnston, Fred Stokes, and Mike Walters.

JUDY THOMASON, one of the cheerleaders who is serving her second season on the squad, said after the selection, "We hope that the student body will remember that they are yelling for the Panthers. They need your support. The students are not yelling for the cheerleaders, but with them."
