Stunt Night To Highlight Says WAA Pres. Johnson

By FRED BROWN

"Standing on its own rather than being associated with some other activity, Stunt Night will be one of the highlights of the winter quarter," said WAA president Johnson. "This Jan. 12 event will be more successful if held during the winter.

WAA president Johnson said: "Stunt Night will be an activity that has been in existence in the college. It has been changed in order to please the majority of students and I hope that we will have a successful event." Speaking for the WAA, Johnson advised the class Stunt Night chairman to concentrate on originality and high percentage of participation on the part of all the students in the four classes. "Much of the success of the event will be focused on these two areas."

Planes have been made to have the event planned and executed by the students. The program will be divided into three parts: a musical presentation, a skit, and a stunt. The musical part will be presented by the college choir, and the skit will be written by the WAA. The stunt will be planned by the students.

The reason for the change was that many of the students felt that fall quarter was already overloaded with college activities and that Stunt Night would be more successful if held during the winter.

WAA president Johnson said, "Stunt Night will be a chance for the students to have some fun. It has been changed in order to please the majority of students and I hope that we will have a successful event."
Goldwater Offers Choice for Republicans

By JOHN WHITE

The long awaited announcement by Senator Barry Goldwater has come. He will seek the Republican nomination for President.

The 85-year-old conservative made the positive announcement because he feels that the country is ready for a conservative in the White House.

The Senator feels that many Americans will support him because he is against federal aid, against centralized control, against liberalism. He has judged the sentiment of the American people.

Any feeling of support Goldwater had because of his speech "againstness" is gone. The liberal side of the American people has made sure that every citizen in this country feels he is responsible for the death to John Kennedy. And because of this feeling of guilt, a candidate that has the reputation of "againstness" has the American voters against him.

If the Senator wins the Republican nomination, he will have a tough fight to win the "puzzle palace on the Potomac," President Johnson is seeing that.

The new president has started riding the fence. On certain days he is a "liberal conservative" and on other days he is a "conservative liberal." The economy in government campaign has captured a number of conservative votes. On the other hand, Johnson has captured the liberal votes by his stand on the civil rights questions.

If it's a choice between Rockefeller and Johnson, it will be a campaign to see who can win the most. If it is a choice between Goldwater and Johnson, it will be a contest to see who can cut off the most.

Goldwater has a long and lonely fight ahead. He must overcome the rising sentiment against him. He can provide the American people with a choice not a chance for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Race Issue Calls To Question Human Dignity

By CINDY BENNET

We are besotted on all sides by philosophers and creeds which prescribe the good life. "Love thy neighbor," "Seek ye the kingdom," and "All men are created equal!" are cliches, the ideals of which we take for granted and the reality of which seems often non-existent.

The feeling of摭leness" has the American voters against him.

The Senator feels that many Americans will support him because he is against federal aid, against centralized control, against liberalism. He has judged the sentiment of the American people.

Class Cuts Cost
Excess Cuts May Cost Student Quality Points

Excess class and chapel cuts drop quality points and on occasion students. In previous quarters students at LaGrange have been forced to drop from school because of the great number of quality points lost from overcutting.

Carlton S. Gappill, chairman of the Absence Committee, has pointed out several ways to prevent this loss.

The absence regulations state:
"All students registered for as much as ten hours of work are expected to attend chapel each week. Exception to chapel attendance may be made by the absence committee only in case of hardship of students whose outside work might interfere with chapel attendance."

At present no one has been allowed this exception to chapel attendance for the winter quarter. Requests for the exception must be made in writing or in person for review by the Absence Committee on January 7th or 14th. Requests for exception must be made before January 14th. Exceptions granted will not be retroactive so as to excuse any chapel cuts prior to review by the committee.

TOTAL ABSENCES

The Absence Committee would like to mention a few things concerning student absences:

1. All legitimate absences need to be excused, no matter what the excuse, penalty will be assessed.
2. Excessive cut counts as part of your total allowable cuts.
3. Five free cuts in a class and then penalties.
5. The absence regulations state that the total number of allowable absences. Please note that the regulations say "total number". This includes both excused and unexcused absences. Nowhere do the regulations state that an academic junior, for example, has five free cuts in a class and then needs an excuse for any other cuts. The regulations state that he has a total of five absences allowed in that class, no more.
6. The absence regulations go according to academic class standing, not according to social class standing.
7. If the number of allowable cuts in a class are all unexcused, the Absence Committee is likely to refuse to accept excuses for overtime, no matter what the excuse, penalty will be assessed.

Panthers Aim For Eagles In Southern Game Tonight

By CLARK STONE

LaGrange College takes "Eagles" tonight in the local gym, and Coach Al Mariotti is not ready to give up the Panthers just yet. Coach Mariotti has declared a "no limit" to every Panther pistol.

LaGrange is the 17th best free thrower in the nation, hitting 194 of 197 for a .799 percentage. The Bureau also listed Hugh Corless as the 12th best free thrower in the small college category.

The only other Georgia team recognized in the ratings was Berry College, which ranks 17th in a three-way tie for best team defense. The Vikings have allowed only 62.3 points per game in their first conference play.

The Panthers have an 8-6 overall record with Mariotti having won the last four games.

A Leader Among States Or National Trash Can

The president of LaGrange College has called Gov. Carl Sanders' recent announced education improvement program "a bold forward stride towards the new Georgia," and said "we must support the governor in his bid for a better Georgia."

Dr. A. H. Henry Jr., head of the four-year coeducational Methodist Institution, said after the governor announced the report of his Commission to Improve Education, "If the program is supported, Georgia will become a leader among the states. It is not that we want to make Georgia number one, but to be a leader among the states." He pointed out that 90 per cent of Georgia's population of 4,100,000 are functional illiterates, Dr. Henry said, "If we want a future, we must buy it. And it will cost far more to do nothing than to do what is right.

"The returns on an investment in sound education now will more than make our children and their children each a better and a more prosperous generation," Dr. Henry said.

In a move to boost public education at all levels, Gov. Sanders several months ago appointed a commission to improve education.

Dr. Henry went ahead to point out the economic aspects of education. "There is a direct correlation between the amount and quality of education, on the one hand, and salary on the other. Ignorant men and women are the first hired and the first fired. Their wages are low. The unskilled and ignorant continue to swell the welfare rolls.""
