Quadrangle Plans Dance And Pageant

"A beauty contest and semi-formal dance, much like Homecoming," will be offered by The 1965 Quadrangle during "Winter Quarter," Walter Johnson, editor of the college yearbook, revealed last week.

According to Johnson, the purpose of the contest is to select a Quadrangle Queen, a beauty who will be honored as the queen of the yearbook. The dance will be used to announce the winner of the contest.

The Student Entertainment Committee, working in conjunction with The Quadrangle, has arranged that entertainment for the dance will be on the level of that provided by Homecoming. Although the details of the beauty contest have not been finalized, the primary emphasis will be on beauty, with a secondary emphasis on personality. Unlike Homecoming, the selection of the Quadrangle Queen will be open to all students.

The staff is very busy working on new ideas for the upcoming publication. "We hope to put out an annual that will be representative of our college. With the plans we have now, I think we are going to have the best Quadrangle ever," said Bill England, Business Manager of The 1965 Quadrangle. "I also want to remind everyone that if they want an annual that they must order this quarter. Since we have to meet a deadline for the covers, we must have every order this quarter."

Quadrangle On Sale In Center

The 1965 Quadrangle is now on sale in the Student Center from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. every day. The cost of the annual this year is $1.50. However, a student may pay $2.50 this quarter and the remainder next quarter.

The staff is very busy working on new ideas for the upcoming publication. "We hope to put out the final manuscript that will be representative of our college. With the plans we now have, I think we are going to have the best Quadrangle ever," said Bill England, Business Manager of The 1965 Quadrangle. "I also want to remind everyone that if they want an annual that they must order this quarter. Since we have to meet a deadline for the covers, we must have every order this quarter."

Commenting recently in Hilltop News interviews Dr. C. Lee Harwell, academic dean, and Mrs. Juanita Overcash, Associate Registrar, termed last Tuesday's action "one of the bolter registrations we've had." Dr. Harwell also pointed out that as far as he knows "all of the upperclassmen registered without any problems."

Regarding that registration situation, Dean Harold said that the problems Dean Harwell said that the session being held Tuesday (today) for those students receiving only 10 hours of work or less would probably solve most of the problems (see related story).

Dr. Harwell continued emphasizing the point that the students who registered early this week were asked to report to the Registrar's office between the hours of 8 and 11 a.m. These students will be offered these same courses. Students should complete their schedules and any problems they may have by 11 a.m. when the classes begin.

SGA To Propose "Riot Rule" To Students

A great deal of discussion and activity is expected at the Student Government Association Legislative Council meeting Thursday night to obtain entertainment of the same caliber of Roy Orbison, who appeared at Homecoming.

Pastor Slated For Chapel

A Methodist minister from West Point, Georgia will supply the program at Chapel tomorrow morning. The Rev. James N. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Church in West Point, graduated from Emory University in 1953 and graduated from Candler School of Theology in 1957.

In June of 1955, he was appointed as the student pastor of the Methodist Church. He was appointed as the student pastor of the First Methodist Church of the General Conference of the United Methodist Church. Since then, he has served as the pastor of several churches in the state of Georgia.

A Misplaced Thanks

Due to an oversight on our part we credited the new water fountain in the student center to the Business Office. As noted in a letter to the editor in this issue, the water fountain was provided by the LaGrange College Bookstore.

So, to the LaGrange College Bookstore we offer our thanks. There has been a long need for this oasis. We're glad to see it has been met.

The Hilltop News would also like to take this opportunity to concur with Mr. Austin Cook in his letter in being "deeply grateful to the owners of the LaGrange College Bookstore for their continued interest in the students of this institution and to this tangible evidence of their support."

Juke Box

Pictured here are Jim Cowan and Mike Hinson as they discussed their next selection on the juke box in the student center last Friday when the machine refused to stop.

Apparently there was a problem over which song to play next as they had already played both sides of every record for $1.50.

The whole thing started Friday morning at 10:40 when Jim put a half dollar into the machine. After pushing what he thought was seven buttons or the selection light had been on for about 30 seconds now on only $.50.

He then called Mike Hinson over and asked him if he would like to play a song. Without knowing the circumstances Mike pushed two or three buttons. Then Jim told him that the selection light had been on for about 30 seconds now on only $.50.

After a brief discussion, they decided that Mike should push all the A and C buttons and Jim should push all the B and D buttons. This task completed, they decided to go over and rest a minute at a table and talk over the next step.

Of course the selection light was still on. Running into Jimmy Matthews, Jim told him the complete story and, not wanting to be left out, Jimmy went over and pushed one button and to Jim's and Mike's surprise the selection light finally went out.

Hinson was last seen walking over the machine screaming that Matthews had broken his toy.

Cowan took it all in stride, but this year was an exception. Reverend Marion Peterson was one of them.

There were some people who didn't like him, but, then again, there are people who won't like anything, no matter how good or how meaningful it might be.

He said something to me, and I appreciated it. If you were listening, you probably got something out of it too. I hope so.

The Intellectual is Organized
BY CARRIE HERDON
The Hilltop News has learned that there is a new campus publication tentatively scheduled to be made its initial appearance shortly after the Thanksgiving holidays.
Named The Intellectual, the paper is being backed by a group of students interested in providing an outlet for those who may not have opinions on campus issues and an outlet for student faculty rivalry.
The new paper as now conceived will appear monthly during the regular college year and will be written and edited by Jay Bodeker.
Other staff members now working on getting this effort off the ground and on to the page are Noble Shorgue, Barry Morgan, Trip McCord, and Dee Douglas.
Informed sources have told The Hilltop News that the just mentioned faculty is not to rival the News but to give those students and faculty an opportunity to have their opinions published, and to help create constructive thinking on campus.
Interviewed Thursday, November 19, Noble Shorgue said, "I do think this is a good step forward if it can be done with a rational attitude."
The Publications Committee plans to meet after Thanksgiving in order to discuss the publication.

College News Briefs
Pi Gamma Mu will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, November 27, at 8 p.m. in the Seminar room of the library.
There will be an Abinome Committee meeting today at 3 p.m. in the Conference room of the Quadrangle building.
Hour of Power meets tonight at 6:30 in the Bailey room.
It was recently announced by Dr. C. Lee Harwell, academic dean, that all organizations, officers had been sent a complete student roster.
Dr. Harwell said it was done to assist these officers in fulfilling their responsibilities to their organizations.

Deficiencies Said To Be An Advantage
BY MARILY CLEMENTS
A large amount of criticism has been made of the deficiency system. At first glance this criticism was in order. However, when studied thoroughly, a great deal of merit becomes apparent.
Informed sources have told The Hilltop News that the just mentioned Faculty is not to rival the News but to give those students and faculty an opportunity to have their opinions published, and to help create constructive thinking on campus.

Teaching With “A”
BY HENRY SUGAR
Every student working for a teaching certificate in our college must practice teach in a school for one quarter to enable this student to gain the necessary experience to teach. The student chooses the type of school he wants to practice in (primary, elementary, or secondary) and is placed the time periods that initiation the amendment states generally for those who choose the type of school and have initiated the required courses. The Pan Hellenic Council met last night and passed the amendment. It states that this purpose of The Intellectual is not to rival the News but to give those students and faculty an opportunity to have their opinions published, and to help create constructive thinking on campus.

Supplies Must Be Informed
BY MARY FRIST
Perhaps the real evaluation of the worth of Religious Emphasis Week is determined by the amount to which the services make changes in the lives of the student body. No one but the dorm people share their experiences, and feelings, and by these comments we can judge that this year's Religious Emphasis Week lead by Rev. Marlon Pierson was a tremendous success. Below are some candid reactions gathered from girls at LC.
EUROSHIF-"It was good. I couldn't understand all the illustrations. We should have required chapel. In Koren we had chapel three times a week and Religious Emphasis lasted a whole week. The first session was noisy - People seemed to be going just cause they had to. But the second one was better. I enjoyed the special music."
JANE FELDER. I liked it, that's all I can think of."
JOHN SMITH- I think Rev. Pierson's the most tremendous speaker we've ever had. Through his simplicity he reached the hearts - I don't know who reached him. He had so much to say in the few words he used. When I started talking about doubt I just sat up in my chair. He was talking to us. With convin- cingly attended that everyone in doing LC, for their college surely should have known that LC is a church supported school, and the church supported schools, almost without exceptions require chapel attendance. If a person would consider that this school is in his choosing, I think that his complaint might be limited. If people would be less concerned with their 'ignorant' school going, and more concern- ed with the message that is brought to them, they might gain an ounce or two of spiritual food for their starving souls.

Panthers Begin Season And Roll Over Alabama

By Jimmie Wilcock

The LaGrange College Panthers played the role of the week's boomer first and Alabama College Falcons and snapped their winning streak of nine with a fine 88-74 win over Saturday night.

In the early going it was a see-saw battle with LaGrange leading 14-11 with 14 minutes to play. The ball switched and when the Panthers called time out at 5:26 to go in the first half they were on the short end of a 27-20 score.

Ronnie Myers committed his fourth foul with 4 minutes to go in the first half and the Panthers lead by a slim 6 points.

However 3 consecutive baskets by Hugh Curless boosted the lead to 11 points and knocked the heart out of the Falcons.

At halftime the Panthers still held this 12 point advantage leading 42-29.

The second half started with center Jim Jackson scoring on a two quick baskets and turning a close game into a rout.

Coach Mariotti began to substitute freely and at one time led by as much as 26 points.

The visiting Falcons lost all hope with Alabama College's 37 per cent on field goals and 75 per cent on free throws.

While the Panthers were faster and quicker in the first half, they were on the short end of the see-saw battle with LaGrange's 37 per cent on field goals and 75 per cent on free throws.

The Panthers overall shooting was 46.3 per cent on field goals and 77.7 per cent on free throws.

The Falcons shot 42.1 per cent from the floor and 66.6 per cent from the charity lines.

In an exclusive interview with Coach Leon Davis of Alabama College he said, "Our club out hustled us, we were more aggressive, several men beat us in the first half and several other men destroyed us in the second half."

TOTAL 88 74

Joe Phillips of LC goes up on the opening tip-off of the LaGrange's opening game last Saturday night. Phillips and his teammates went on to beat Alabama College of Jacksonville, Alabama, 88-74.

When asked of the turning point Coach Mariotti summed up the game this way, "We looked good in spots, moved the ball good at times, were beaten on the boards in first half but won the battle in the second half. We played a good second half and some of the reserves looked good in their first college game."
