Mr. and Miss LaGrange College
Twelve Outstanding Seniors Named

The campus of the college crop was picked last week and two names head the list, Miss Jean Jackson was voted Most Representative of the Freshman Class and Tony Martin was tagged Most Representative Freshman Boy.

Members of the Quadrangle staff, who organized the election, reported about a forty percent personal pursuit for the vote. Jean and Lowery have shown themselves worthy of their new titles, Jean is President of Alpha Kappa Thetas sorority, and Lowery has been an active member of the LaGrange College Gamma Club. She plans to do some type of medical technological work, commenting on the election, she said, "I'm flattered that anyone would think enough of me to vote for me."

"With these changes," said Dana Harwell, "I find that we will have enough courses at the lower division level to take care of the needs of the student body."

The final check on the spring quarter schedule will be made by the division chairmen in a few days, and the completed revision should be in the hands of the academic advisors by the end of this week.

Beginning with spring quarter registration, a few grades will be imposed for making certain schedule changes. A $5.00 fine will be required of all students switching classes unnecessarily.

If a student must, for academic reasons, make necessary changes, or if his advisor will accept the responsibility for having made a mistake in the students original schedule, no charge will be made.

The primary reason for the adoption of this practice, according to Dean Harwell, is to make students and advisors more cautious in laying out original schedules.

Found Any Storm Sewers? (ACP) -- The Daily Califonian, University of California at Berkeley, notes, "A quick survey revealed that storm-carrying pipes aren't the most popular way college students spend their Saturday nights, but we wouldn't look and wait for another train."
Many students complain that LaGrange does not have the “name” and feel that this is necessary for the diploma to be of value. Many transfer, unless caught by the five-quarter limit, for this reason. It has been observed, however, that students who transfer from the college are actually the cause for this complaint.

LaGrange depends on its students. A minimum number must be here if the college is “to clear” financially. This means that if upper division students leave, more freshmen must be admitted to make up for this loss and maintain the proper money balance. With more freshmen, more lower division courses must be offered, and fewer of the advanced can be made available.

The Hilltop News feels that we do have a quality faculty. We feel also that our professor-student relationship is of great value.

Bottle Gap Exists On Our Campus

Where have all the Coke bottles gone?

Last month Mr. Fowler paid approximately $80.00 for missing and broken Coca-Cola bottles. If this loss is figured at three cents per bottle, we have broken or lost about 2,800 bottles since classes began last week in September.

The Coca-Cola Company keeps records of the number of Cokes it takes to fill our machines, and counts the number of bottles picked up from these figures they tabulate the number of missing bottles. When the company is short of bottles we must remunerate them for the difference.

Mr. Fowler requests that bottles be placed in the proper racks in the student center and the dorms.

Deadline Nears For Student Advisor Changes

Friday, February 5, will be the last day for any changes in students’ academic advisors.

This affects only a portion of the student body.

A third-quarter sophomore should by this time have declared his major fields and must be assigned to advisors in their respective departments. Any student who has declared a major but has already decided to change must also be switched.

If the necessary changes are not made by Friday, the student must remain under his present advisor, regardless of the advisor’s department.

Changes can be made by obtaining declaration forms from Mr. Overcash’s office and then seeing the Academic Dean and the advisors involved.

Dr. Foombee Kay, professor of religion and Dean of Chapel, was in town teaching in Mobile, Alabama, at the Greater Mobile Christian Workers School.

This is the third year that Dr. Kay has been invited to lecture to the五百 laden members at this school. His course of instruction is entitled “How To Read and Understand the Bible.”

BERRY VIKINGS DROP PANTHERS BY SIX POINTS

Last Wednesday evening the LaGrange "Panthers" were dropped by the Berry "Vikings".

The tall Vikings on their home court were able to beat the Panthers by 5 points: 50-44.

Hugh Corless led the "Cats" with 35 points, but this was not quite enough to beat the accurate shooting Vikings. The whole game, however, was a close contest.

LaGrange hit 45 percent of their field goal attempts and 66.7 percent of their free throws. Even against the superior height of the Berry team, LaGrange managed 29 rebounds while Berry got 31.

Unfortunately for LaGrange — (44)

Corless, 25; Phillips, S; Myers, 7; Lorn, 5; Jackson, 2

Berry — (50) Hinton, 10; Don-ton, 10; Arp, 9; Jenkins, 8;

Dolian, 7; Heritage, 2.

Half score: 34-22 (Berry).

LILL'S BACK!
And will you be in love again?

LaGrange College Gymnasium was a place of tension and excitement Saturday evening and the Panthers lost a "heartbreaker" to Valdosta. The "Rebels" of Valdosta barely slipped by LaGrange with luck on their side (56-51).

The statistics show a true picture of the game. For example each team has 12 fouls, field goal percentage was 45.9 percent for LaGrange and 46 percent for Valdosta, free throw percentage was 65 percent for LaGrange and 60.7 percent for Valdosta. The Rebels rebounded for 39 and the Panthers for 27. Coach Al Martinez said, "It was a tough game to lose."

Ronnie Myers led the scoring with 18 points, Hugh Corless reached a college career scoring of over 1,000 points during the game.

Scoring: LaGrange — (56) Myers, 15; Corless, 16; Phillips, 9; Lorn, 6; Drain, 5; Valdosta — (54) Johnson, 16; Phillips, 15; Minty, 10; McGehee, 9; Wallman, 8; Perry, 2.
