For Want Of A Staff...

For want of a horse...a kingdom was lost, so the story goes. The Hilltop News is in the same precarious position. For want of reporters our time, our effort, our sanity, and possibly our newspaper are all lost.

We need people for editorial writing, features, sports, and cartooning. But our basic need is a staff of willing writers who can do general assignment work and know what a deadline means.

Persons interested in working with us, should contact Bill Gambill, Cherri Wooddall or Cassie Herrndon, personally or by campus mail, or attend the staff meeting which is scheduled for 6 p.m. tonight in the Hilltop News room in Smith Building.

There will be a regular staff meeting of The Hilltop News tonight at 6 p.m. in the news room in Smith Dormitory.

All other persons interested in working on the newspaper staff should also come to this meeting.

CONFETTI...

BY MIKE CHRISTENSEN

War Of Brickbats

A growing thorn in the side of the “Great Society” is the “War on Poverty.” While trying to provide for the less fortunate male countrymen, no government can enter such a “War” without leaving many loose ends dangling in the hands of critics, and this conflict is no exception.

Consider the remarks of syndicated columnist Fallon Lewis Jr., as he lashed out at New York Democrat Adam Clayton Powell’s position as a chief investigator for the $180,000 probe of the “War”:

Lewis said, “The Harlem Democrat then hired... James McCarty... a former director of New York’s scammedback Multinational Foundation for Youth,MFT, a multi-million dollar antipoverty project, was discovered by state and city probitors to have been heavily infiltrated by radical infillers. It was shown, too, to be an administrative and fiscal nightmare.”

The lighter side, if there is one, comes in the midst of an Associated Press story describing the establishment of a pension fund for career employees of Atlanta’s anti-poverty program.

The report reads “The 7-2 vote approving the plan comes after a heated discussion yesterday. Mrs. W. H. Allen—one of the two who voted against the plan says she did not because she didn’t understand the project. Atlanta school superintendent John W. Laton noted several staff employees in the anti-poverty program were recruited from a pension fund. The report reads, “The 7-2 vote approving the plan comes after a heated discussion yesterday. Points About Rush Are Discussed By Students

Rush activities are due soon and ads will be mailed Monday night, November 1. While campus interests will fresh a survey of opinions on rush activities and social issues.

To discover attitudes on the subject, this reporter talked with members of the faculty, Greek organizations, and rushes. Dr. Wight G. Henry said, "It gives the students a chance to develop social graces instead of social Savagery." Mrs. Alice Bledgett, of

Panhellenic Lists Ineligibles

Following is the list of names compiled by the Panhellenic Council containing the names of students ineligible for bids from sororities and fraternity Fall Quarter.

If anyone listed has a legitimate excuse as to why he or she did not attend all three rush parties, an excuse must be sent to Box 208, Campus, may make them eligible this quarter.

Other interesting suggestions were made. For instance, the idea of deferred rush, such as is practiced at the University of Georgia, was brought up, prompted by a desire to lessen activity in the already-overcrowded orientation period.

"One party just doesn’t do it," says Kay Green again. She thinks there should be more parties to provide a greater opportunity for contact with the others. A stiffer dress code than dancing partners, she thinks.

Many of the rush traditions of LC as a coeducational school are still in the formative stages and every student is involved in their nurture and growth. Decide what you think and then act on it.
Pi Delt Blanks Gamma Phi

Pi Delt and Gamma Phi opened the football season last Thursday with a most exciting game.

The first half was a constant seesaw battle with six interceptions. It ended in a scoreless tie. Dick Lacher sparked the Goblins' offense with two interceptions. Robin Foley grabbed one.

Pi Delt had three interceptions, two by Randy Edgar and one by Richard Messersee. This helped the Pi Delt defense stop Gamma Phi. In the first half Pi Delt had several opportunity turnovers but could not. On the Gamma Phi three yard line, Pi Delt passed only to have Dick Lacher pull it down for an interception. On a later play, Chick Stevens caught a touch-down pass only to have it called back.

In the second half the defense of Pi Delt tightened up. Dean Hawthorne intercepted three Goblins passes while the Goblins got one, which Bill England pulled down. Early in the second half, Gamma Phi on fourth down elected to kick. The snap from center was high over the head of John Forrester and went in to the end zone where Pi Delt caught the Goblins for a touch-back and two points. Later, Larry Horton throws a 35 yard pass to Jackie Blake for six points. The kick was again blocked but Pi Delt had an 8-0 lead.
