Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

LaGRANGE, Ga. - Students may acquire up to 20 quarter hours of college credit by attending summer sessions at LC this year.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

"Last summer's record enrollment for the split session of summer school proved that many students liked this plan," Dr. Harwell said. "We are looking forward to an even greater number of students this coming summer."

Dr. Mattes, director of the school, has announced that this delightful entertainment will combine the efforts of the entire Fine Arts Division of LaGrange College.

A special interest feature of "Once Upon a Mattress" is that it contains the first full-length musical score by Mary Rodgers, daughter of the other very famous composer, Richard Rodgers. The lyrics for her catchy tunes were written by Marshall Barer, who along with Jay Thompson and David Cohn, designed the jolly book for the Broadway hit on the basis of the old fairy tale about the super-sensitive princess.

A scene out the going-on in a medieval royal court, the test for the wagers being on in a medieval royal court, Needly aspiring to win the Crown Prince Dauntless, the Drab (Charles Thomas) is that the king does not like the way that she can feel the rude presence of a lady. He then takes the back of twenty mattresses. This tough test has been inched up by the prince's Mama, Queen Arragon, (Erly Frazier) a garrulous, rowdy woman, so domineering that she has struck her husband.

"Ones Upon A Mattress" are Tim Dycker and Reginald Alfred Maritch and the LC enrollment last summer was 228, an increase of almost 25 per cent over the 164 summer term.

Summer quarter courses in the following fields will be offered: Art, Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, general science, geography, health and physical education, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and speech.

Students may carry two five-hour courses during each summer term. Dr. Harwell said each class will be scheduled for a two-hour period each day.

"This should be the most comfortable for our students as our library, dining hall, administration building, and most of our classrooms will be air-conditioned," Mr. Harwell said.

News Flash

It was announced by informed sources late yesterday that those students will soon receive letters from a mysterious nature from the administration, "Go."

The Mercer festival special-

ART MUSEUM

The Mercer University Art Museum now on exhibition in the LC gymnasium is a major art collection now on exhibition in the gymnasium. At other times the oldest collegiate folk festi-

LaGRANGE COLLEGE, LaGRANGE, Georgia

April 19, 1966

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

LaGRANGE, GA. - Students may acquire up to 20 quarter hours of college credit by attending summer sessions at LC this year.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

"Last summer's record enrollment for the split session of summer school proved that many students liked this plan," Dr. Harwell said. "We are looking forward to an even greater number of students this coming summer."

Dr. Mattes, director of the school, has announced that this delightful entertainment will combine the efforts of the entire Fine Arts Division of LaGrange College.

A special interest feature of "Once Upon a Mattress" is that it contains the first full-length musical score by Mary Rodgers, daughter of the other very famous composer, Richard Rodgers. The lyrics for her catchy tunes were written by Marshall Barer, who along with Jay Thompson and David Cohn, designed the jolly book for the Broadway hit on the basis of the old fairy tale about the super-sensitive princess.

A scene out the going-on in a medieval royal court, the test for the wagers being on in a medieval royal court, Needly aspiring to win the Crown Prince Dauntless, the Drab (Charles Thomas) is that the king does not like the way that she can feel the rude presence of a lady. He then takes the back of twenty mattresses. This tough test has been inched up by the prince's Mama, Queen Arragon, (Erly Frazier) a garrulous, rowdy woman, so domineering that she has struck her husband.

"Ones Upon A Mattress" are Tim Dycker and Reginald Alfred Maritch and the LC enrollment last summer was 228, an increase of almost 25 per cent over the 164 summer term.

Summer quarter courses in the following fields will be offered: Art, Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, general science, geography, health and physical education, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and speech.

Students may carry two five-hour courses during each summer term. Dr. Harwell said each class will be scheduled for a two-hour period each day.

"This should be the most comfortable for our students as our library, dining hall, administration building, and most of our classrooms will be air-conditioned," Mr. Harwell said.

News Flash

It was announced by informed sources late yesterday that those students will soon receive letters from a mysterious nature from the administration, "Go."

The Mercer festival special-

ART MUSEUM

The Mercer University Art Museum now on exhibition in the LC gymnasium is a major art collection now on exhibition in the gymnasium. At other times the oldest collegiate folk festi-

LaGRANGE COLLEGE, LaGRANGE, Georgia

April 19, 1966

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

LaGRANGE, GA. - Students may acquire up to 20 quarter hours of college credit by attending summer sessions at LC this year.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

"Last summer's record enrollment for the split session of summer school proved that many students liked this plan," Dr. Harwell said. "We are looking forward to an even greater number of students this coming summer."

Dr. Mattes, director of the school, has announced that this delightful entertainment will combine the efforts of the entire Fine Arts Division of LaGrange College.

A special interest feature of "Once Upon a Mattress" is that it contains the first full-length musical score by Mary Rodgers, daughter of the other very famous composer, Richard Rodgers. The lyrics for her catchy tunes were written by Marshall Barer, who along with Jay Thompson and David Cohn, designed the jolly book for the Broadway hit on the basis of the old fairy tale about the super-sensitive princess.

A scene out the going-on in a medieval royal court, the test for the wagers being on in a medieval royal court, Needly aspiring to win the Crown Prince Dauntless, the Drab (Charles Thomas) is that the king does not like the way that she can feel the rude presence of a lady. He then takes the back of twenty mattresses. This tough test has been inched up by the prince's Mama, Queen Arragon, (Erly Frazier) a garrulous, rowdy woman, so domineering that she has struck her husband.

"Ones Upon A Mattress" are Tim Dycker and Reginald Alfred Maritch and the LC enrollment last summer was 228, an increase of almost 25 per cent over the 164 summer term.

Summer quarter courses in the following fields will be offered: Art, Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, general science, geography, health and physical education, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and speech.

Students may carry two five-hour courses during each summer term. Dr. Harwell said each class will be scheduled for a two-hour period each day.

"This should be the most comfortable for our students as our library, dining hall, administration building, and most of our classrooms will be air-conditioned," Mr. Harwell said.

News Flash

It was announced by informed sources late yesterday that those students will soon receive letters from a mysterious nature from the administration, "Go."

The Mercer festival special-

ART MUSEUM

The Mercer University Art Museum now on exhibition in the LC gymnasium is a major art collection now on exhibition in the gymnasium. At other times the oldest collegiate folk festi-

LaGRANGE COLLEGE, LaGRANGE, Georgia

April 19, 1966

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

Summer school to have largest enrollment yet

LaGRANGE, GA. - Students may acquire up to 20 quarter hours of college credit by attending summer sessions at LC this year.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

The second term is scheduled to begin Monday, July 13, and continue through Friday, July 27.

"Last summer's record enrollment for the split session of summer school proved that many students liked this plan," Dr. Harwell said. "We are looking forward to an even greater number of students this coming summer."

Dr. Mattes, director of the school, has announced that this delightful entertainment will combine the efforts of the entire Fine Arts Division of LaGrange College.

A special interest feature of "Once Upon a Mattress" is that it contains the first full-length musical score by Mary Rodgers, daughter of the other very famous composer, Richard Rodgers. The lyrics for her catchy tunes were written by Marshall Barer, who along with Jay Thompson and David Cohn, designed the jolly book for the Broadway hit on the basis of the old fairy tale about the super-sensitive princess.

A scene out the going-on in a medieval royal court, the test for the wagers being on in a medieval royal court, Needly aspiring to win the Crown Prince Dauntless, the Drab (Charles Thomas) is that the king does not like the way that she can feel the rude presence of a lady. He then takes the back of twenty mattresses. This tough test has been inched up by the prince's Mama, Queen Arragon, (Erly Frazier) a garrulous, rowdy woman, so domineering that she has struck her husband.

"Ones Upon A Mattress" are Tim Dycker and Reginald Alfred Maritch and the LC enrollment last summer was 228, an increase of almost 25 per cent over the 164 summer term.

Summer quarter courses in the following fields will be offered: Art, Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, general science, geography, health and physical education, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and speech.

Students may carry two five-hour courses during each summer term. Dr. Harwell said each class will be scheduled for a two-hour period each day.

"This should be the most comfortable for our students as our library, dining hall, administration building, and most of our classrooms will be air-conditioned," Mr. Harwell said.

News Flash

It was announced by informed sources late yesterday that those students will soon receive letters from a mysterious nature from the administration, "Go."

The Mercer festival special-

ART MUSEUM

The Mercer University Art Museum now on exhibition in the LC gymnasium is a major art collection now on exhibition in the gymnasium. At other times the oldest collegiate folk festi-
I cannot foresee any major improvement in its won-lost percentage. The team record to a most unprestigious 0-7. Our track team will delve further into the problem. Our tennis and track teams do not do this. In fact they do not even win.

A purpose of competitive sport, as I see it, should be winning by as one-sided a score as possible. Our tenants and track teams do not do this. In fact they do not even win.

Do they need practice more? Should LC give track and tennis scholarships? Do we need a coach for each of the teams? I suggest that those responsible for our athletic program study the problems our teams are having, study the lack of student support given to these teams, and either attempt to foster a study the problems our teams are having, study the lack of student support given to these teams, and either attempt to foster a... be eternally grateful for your "morals - boosting" recommendation that we abolish the sport. I am not concerned that you see nothing worthwhile in being a member of, or observing others in action, since the Hilltop News seems to have difficulty in finding anything worthwhile that is connected with LaGrange College. However, I would suggest that you con-lighten you.

thwhile that is connected with difficulty in finding anything wor-

moral - boosting" recommen-

Manget is now the point where

Act Two and Three   so display with vilest contempt for pect. It now reflects irreverence,

LC revival. It appears that Christ at the caricature depicting an

and shameful disrespect for that must have moved out of mind and a large number of students would probably benefit from it.

The staff of this rag will meet tonight at 6 p.m., in the newsroom. For a good issue next week bring your pills and please don't part in the halls.

Ned Blau, a resident of Tampa, Florida, is a member of Pi Delta Kappa fraternity and a former columnist on the newspaper staff.
Coach forecasts bright future

By KNOX PERKES

"We are losing 5 Jr. seniors, and some of them have been starters since they have been here. I love the boys they are going to have to replace, individually, but we are going to try to replace them. It may be with individuals that play a little bit differently than those boys, but we probably will have as good ball players as we had. Their skills may be different, but it’s just a matter of blending them together and making a workable outfit with them. The prospects right now look real good." These were Coach Mariotti’s words as he was recently interviewed by the MTN.

The coach was then asked to comment on the new players he recently obtained.

"Presently we have two junior college players. In the one I would like to get one more. This would give us the necessary college boy at the center position, one at forward, and one at guard, in addition to the team. To have freshmen experience who won’t find it too difficult to adjust to our style, this basketball, by the way, is as good as basketball (small college basketball) as they play anywhere."

In the next question Coach was asked to relate some of the difficulties he encounters in recruiting new players, both from junior colleges, and from high schools.

"The nucleus of College has a lot of angles. One of the factors in it is that we offer an A.B. degree, but I’m not griping about that at all because I think that it’s a more valuable degree than a B.S. degree. A lot of the boys that are junior college boys do not have a language background, and unless they are pretty good students, that particular place of their academic program shows them up academically. But I don’t think that this is a factor in recruiting. One of the biggest factors is that we are competitively recruiting, not major colleges for the good boys, but also against the junior colleges. In other words, the junior college offers a high school boy a better break than does the other four year college can offer, and we have several junior college offer them in the states that offer full scholarships. Boys these days are looking for the best deal they can possibly get. One of the main points we use in inducing a boy to come here is that we have a good academic program. We try to impress them that this is one of the places where you can do your major work and get a good boys academically. Last year’s record will attest to that. I think the major problem is that there is so much competition."

"There are two things that effect a basketball program. One is the entrance exams, and the other is the number of scholarships that would need most improve- ment."