May Day enjoyed by entire campus

LaGrange College's May Day was actually held on the last day of April this year, but it did not keep the traditional event from being a perfect success.

Hundreds of parents arrived at the college's Hill early Saturday and many stayed until the orchestra played the last note at the dance that evening.

In between there were honors program, a buffet lunch in the dining hall, tours of campus facilities, opportunities to meet their sons and daughters, professors and friends, the presentation of the May Court, and annual step-singing competitions between sororities and fraternities.

May Queen Ann Harries of Powder Springs and King Gary Brown of Newnan weighed over festivities. They and their court, including two beautiful coeds from each class were entertained by the competing singing groups.

Sigma Nu Pi won the fraternity step-singing contest on Powell Field Delta Phi Delta won the combined group contest and Gamma Phi Alpha fraternity.

The Rev. Dan W. Brewwer, Atlanta, executive director of the Georgia Methodist Commission on Higher Education, spoke to the students last week.

Applications for editor and business manager for each of the three campus publications are now being accepted. These publications are IM, the yearbook, the Miracle, and Mirror.

Mr. Bradley said that this year for the first time all three editors and business managers will receive a $50 grant for their year in office. The successful editor and business manager will each receive a half-time grant or $25.00.

All students are eligible to make applications for the various positions and the best qualified students will be selected, Mr. Bradley said.

Applicants should make their applications in writing, listing their publication experience, their academic average, and their plans for improving the particular publication.

Mr. Bradley addressed to Mr. Bradley, and put in the campus mail or delivered to him personally.

May Day—a success!

May Day proved to be one of the most exciting and enjoyable events of the year. It was excellently coordinated, and all participants in the various programs gave flawless performances. The staff wishes to congratulate all students who were awarded and recognized at the Honors Day ceremony. Also, our congratulations go out to Carbona R. for winning the coveted E. A. Bailey Award for the third consecutive year.

The presentation of the May Court was most impressive, and the dance was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended. Every other Friday, Campus Choir Inc., performed well throughout the day, proving that they ARE capable of serving delicious food.

May Day was, indeed, the highlight of the quarter, and special thanks are deserved by all who had a part in the preparation. (SMO)

The action team last week by the athletic committee in discontinuing the tennis team is tremendously applauded in these quarters. Now that this has been done perhaps the committee can now see its way clear to take similar action on our falling track team. The track team scored a total of one (1) point in its last meet, and if this is not reason enough to discontinue the team, I do not know what is. (SMO)

Something to offend everyone

By THE UNHOLY THREE

Well, we're back again this week minus one who was recently removed for the protection of the young, and the well-being of LC.

In the last two weeks several new organizations have sprang up on campus. One, an offspring of THRUSH, claims membership of one representative from each dormitory floor. Better known as CDI (Christian Duty Informers), this group has been exceeding active of late.

Now that the tennis team has been invited to play in Sydney, Australia this summer are the rumors true that the kitchen staff has taken up residence in the basement of the dorm?

Possibly, but what is going on down there, anyway?

A movie adaptation of the LC "Passion Play" is not presently in the making. However, plans are allegedly being made to take the play on tour.

Tennessee Williams (no relation to LC professors) will not shoot film for the spring edition of the SCROLL. The idea was a good one.

When will Austin P. Cook see fit to overcome the refusal of the hot water heater in Turner Hall? Obviously, Mr. Cook had not been showering in Turner recently or he would have most certainly rectified the existing situation.

Dear Editor:

Regarding the attitudes taken toward Christians on this campus, I would like to begin by stating that I am an atheist. However, having a keen sense of justice, if I do say so myself, I would like to take sides with the persecuted Christians.

There are only a couple of questions remaining in my mind about the "Passion Play." These are:

1. What does the crucifixion of Jesus Christ have to do with compulsory assembly?

2. What good can be gained by protesting compulsory assembly behind a curtain—why not behind CONT. ON NEXT PAGE?

Library hours need changing

By JOHN CLEER

Perhaps one of the greatest assets in any college campus is its library. At LC there have been many attempts in the past to improve our library services, thereby ultimately improving the quality of our education. I very strongly recommend that the present hours of the library be changed. I think that it would be of great assistance to the students if the library would remain open until eleven Monday through Thursday nights, also, a great many students would be benefited if the library would be open on Sunday afternoon. I realize that this would place an additional burden on the staff and therefore suggest that the library remain closed on Friday night, and also suggest more reliance on the students to maintain the library at night, I feel that being open from three to six on Sunday mornings would benefit many students who have enjoyed a weekend and are ready for a weeknight study session.

I strongly recommend that the bound periodicals be made available for current work. I do not believe that a student would rip up a book if he knew he would be responsible for all new damage done before it was returned the following morning.

I would like to see one additional member of the library staff. This new staff member could have a full time job of checking in, checking out, and also suggest more reliance on the students to maintain the library. I feel that this would place an added burden on the students and for the most part, pleasant and helpful librarians.

I would like to make a few suggestions as to changes that perhaps could be made to improve our library services.

Dear Mr. Dunkin,

I read the last issue of the Hilltop News and I think you are doing an excellent job. I also think you are having the same problems of many other editors. Also, I see that you have the same type students of many of the other colleges, I am sure there are some people that are never happy and they never will be, rather than to make things better, they criticize.

I found your paper to be very interesting reading and was also glad to see your smile picture in it. Thanks for your good work.

LC to receive student loans.

Congressman John Flint, Jr. recently announced that LC is scheduled to receive a $41,287 allotment for loans to students under title two of the National Defense Education Act. Flint indicated that this represents the first allotment of funds for use by LC during the 1965-66 school year, and is the maximum amount to which funds to this program may be committed to this institution under existing authority.

The sixth district representative also announced that $279,140 is being allotted to the Georgia State Higher Education Facilities Commission under Part A of Title six of the Higher Education Act of 1965. Of this amount, $226,926 will be used to purchase laboratory equipment and other equipment worth $52,214 will be allotted for television equipment.

In every community, there is a minority group that believes right is wrong. The LC campus has such a group. It is a lonely feeling to stand apart from the beliefs of those who have been away with this minority. There are only a few lonely people standing apart from them. They are strong and have the power of the Almighty with them. It is worth the loss of the more acceptable tastes of those students who do not believe in the equality of man, in the equal justice for all races, in the equal belief of all creeds, so long as the warmth of true friendship is attained by the unbiased, unprejudiced few. All too many of us forget that we stem from the same parentage, from the same material, our pains are willing to speak out against them. On occasion a word of thanks is whispered from within the shadows of the night. Occasionally a flicker of a smile appears, and in a flash, is gone again, never more to be seen. Where is the strength of those who say they do not believe in justice? Where is the strength of those who say they want to see a change, but are unwilling to hazard their hands, their help, or even their prayers? Will everyone eventually follow the crowd? Tennis team loses again

Tennis as an intercollegiate sport at LaGrange College has been discontinued for the remainder of this season "due to the apparent lack of interest on the part of some participating players."

Dr. W. M. Shackelford, chairman of the college committee on athletics and physical education, said the action was recommended unanimously by the committee following a meeting last week.

"Some of the players failed to engage in organized practice sessions and were not prepared to leave for a match with Berry College last Monday," Dr. Shackelford said.

The committee voted that the question as to whether or not tennis shall be reactivated as an intercollegiate sport in the future "will be determined by the interest of the players wishing to participate and their willingness to practice."

Mr. Ronald Luke announced that the suspension of tennis will not interfere with LaGrange College's plan to host the annual tennis tournament.

In other action, the committee recommended that the conference and national eligibility to participate and their willingness to practice would not work at LaGrange, in Terry's opinion, for him to remain in the situation is not right for the Greeks at LaGrange to have national ties, need to Terry seems to be creamed together and should be more spread out.

After he graduates Terry would like to go to graduate school and possibly teach at the college level. But actually his real ambition seems to be a writer.
