Seminar Will Offer Study, Travel, Credit

 Plans for a study-travel seminar in the Holy Land for academic credit were announced today by LaGrange College.

Dr. C. Lee Harwell, academic dean, spoke of the LaGrange College Academic Advisory Council has approved the seminar to be offered for the first time in the summer of 1967.

The seminar will be directed by Dr. C. F. McCook, professor of religion and head of the college's Department of Religion and Philosophy.

Dr. McCook said, "The seminar will offer students an exceptional opportunity for relating biblical history and literature to the area where it originated. Students in the seminar should gain appreciation of their biblical heritage not afforded the average individual." The itinerary for the seminar includes a three-week tour in a European city, such as Geneva or Zurich, Switzerland, or Copenhagen, Denmark, depending upon the airline carrying the seminar group.

Anyone desiring additional information on the Holy Land seminar may contact Dr. McCook at LaGrange College.

A Co-educational "college house" established and operated by University of Texas students who were dissatisfied with dormitory and fraternity living proved in the winter of 1961-62 that live anywhere they pleased, and the school has approved plans for an off-campus conductional dormitory.

The college house seems like an excellent mode of living for those students who like to live neither in an apartment nor under the regulations of the Greek system.

A group of students living together in this manner, having occasional faculty members to dinner, could establish the foundation for a stimulating intellectual atmosphere.

And, no doubt, if students would share cooking and cleaning responsibilities, living in such a college house could save a great deal of time and money.

Students there think the college house has been a major influence on changes in university housing. The university no longer requires students living off-campus to stay in approved housing; they can live anywhere they please, and the school has approved plans for an on-campus conductional dormitory.

Man of Many Talents Featured in Becket

Noble is a man of many talents on stage and off," says Clide Smith, one of his third floor Hawkes admirers. This is not just the opinion of one person. While in high school he worked in summer stock at the Appletree Theatre in Cornella, Georgia. He was also invited to attend a seminar on theatre at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. This program was under the sponsorship of the University of North Carolina. Noble's talents extend to music as well as drama. In high school he wrote and produced a musical melodrama, "The Grass Never Dies," to which he also provided the accompanying music.

Noble has gained some of his vast experience from major roles in the following plays: "The Death of a Salesman," "A School for Husbands," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "No Time for Sergeants," "Once Upon a Mattress," "My Fair Lady," and many others.

Because of the vast talent that he possesses, and the floor Hawkes he belongs greatly devoted to the girls who live them. Some of his best girl friends are from the drama department. His plans for this summer are uncertain. He plans to attend a college in the fall. He is considering majoring in English and possibly drama. Noble is also considering transferring his drawing skill to the art department.

Dear Hortense,

A couple of weeks ago you gave a reply to a letter signed Minnie Skirt. I am writing to you because I want to rectify some things.

Noble is not only active in the drama and speech department but in his class and fraternity. As a member of the junior class he helped them with shout night for the third time in a row and this year's sophomores will remember him as their rat master. As an active Gamma Phi he was responsible for this year's homecoming float and performed at both the Gamma Phi and Kappa Phi rush parties. About LaGrange Noble said, "Everything I want to be—my friends and a fine drama department." His plans for this summer are uncertain. He plans to attend a college in the fall. He is considering majoring in English and possibly drama.

An exhibition of drawings, prints and sculpture by David Clark, head of the Art Department at Limestone College, Gallery, S.C., opened at LaGrange College on Sunday, Feb. 5.

Henry Her, assistant professor of art and acting head of the LaGrange College Art Department, calls Clark "primarily a draftsman and an expert. His drawings, usually from nature, rank with the finest."

"In the last few years," Her continues, "Clark has transferred his drawing skill to the art of printmaking, primarily woodcuts, and offers a fresh, vigorous, and original approach."

According to Her, Clark recently has begun a series of small sculptures which, while adhering relatively close to nature, shows some surprising imagery.

Indies Finally Lose
Standings Change

By Buddy Sullivan, Sports Editor

The past weeks inactivity in basketball has given the Independents an opportunity to go in for the first time this season at the hands of Gamma Phi by a 58-56 score.

The Indies had jumped off to an early lead and looked to be in the driver's seat in the first half, when they shot over the Grange, post 48 points on the board work of James Crews and some great clutch shooting by the Skapper boys (Mike and Lee), Gamma Phi raced back to tie the game and force an overtime, here, it was the shooting of Mike Skipper that clinched the 91-71 score as the Panthers handily took the victory in the affair. The Panthers were forced to make a last minute comeback, paced by the3

Face Tough Foes

In the past weeks of basketball action, the LaGrange Panthers have had their ups and downs, winning two and losing three. The wins came over Georgia Tech and Mercer, and the losses to Valdosta State and Georgia Southwestern and Georgia State while two games were dropped to Valdosta State and Mercer University.

In Americus on Jan. 30, LaGrange toppled Southwestern, 55-49, in a thrilling overtime affair, the Panthers were forced to make a last minute comeback to rejuvenate play and then barely hold the victory in the overtime period. Two nights later, LaGrange rolled over Georgia State by a 91-71 score on the Panthers.

MACON TOPPERS IN SECOND HALF, 61 TO 54

Mercer University downed LaGrange College in Macon last night in what must certainly go down as the most unusual game played by the Panthers this year, if not in the school's history.

The first score of 61-54 is hardly indicative of the course of action for the halftime score stood an an unbelievable 23-4, Mercer leading. From the sixth point halftime total, the Panthers did a complete about face in game plan and rolled out a massive total of 48 points in the second half.

The stalling tactics of the Panthers employed at the start of the game obviously were not working and a full-court press used by Mercer did not help the Panther cause any.

The first point of the game went on the board following a Joe Phillips free throw at 16:30. Mercer went ahead on a basket, but Earl Holmes countered with a 20-point bulge at 52-33, but Holmes and Tom Duckett led an inspired Panther rally.

The deficit was cut to ten points on a succession of fast breaks with 5:40 left, Holmes and Duckett were going in for what seemed to be impossible shots, but the baskets kept coming.

Mercer attempted to stall and threw several fouls but LaGrange saw hope and all of a sudden the game was within reach. Holmes drove in for a layup and was fouled on the play. The playmaking guard converted the free shot for a three-point play and the score stood at 54-46, only a single point deficit with 3:57 to go.

Mercer countered with two baskets but Duckett tallied and Holmes made both ends of a one-for-one for a 58-50 score at 2:40. Mercer got into more foul trouble, enabling the Bears to ice the game with free throws. Although Duckett nailed a basket at the buzzer to round out the final margin.

Holmes edged in on the game’s high scorer with 30 points, 18 coming in the second half. Duckett had 14, all in the second half, while Phillips added eleven with ten coming in the second half.

LaGrange out-shot and out-rebounded its opponent, but the first half score was too much to overcome.
