From the Deans Office

There will be no, repeat no, tuition increases for 1969-1970. This word came from Dean Hurwell's office after countless people have reversed into my room to rehearse a tuition increase effective next Fall Quarter. Those asked about any new academic rules to be placed in the next catalog were told that the rules governing a student on probation are to be reversed accordingly. Those asking about plans for a large faculty turnover next year at and of this point there is only one who plans to return to graduate school to complete work. The budget for the coming year has not as yet been set, but the HTH plans to carry on similar obligations in the next issue. Lists are right now being drawn up and presented to the administration of students who have been selected to serve on faculty committees. Plans for summer school are underway and the new LaGrange Times has a list of what is to be offered in the way of courses and professors. Mrs. Shannon, secretary to the Dean gave birth to a boy over the Christmas holidays. Congratulations!

"How to Succeed"

"How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," on of the nation's favorite musicals in theatrical history, has been selected by the LaGrange College Speech and Drama Department, p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, for one of the college season. The musical comedy, a new setting of 'How To Succeed,' written by探宝, will be performed at the college's Dobbs Theater at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday for three performances. EDITORIAL

Once again the staff of the Hilltop News is gathering to cast lots into the bolling pot of our Black Arts, chanting a spell which we hope will set the time honored Wheel-of-Fate into motion to roll over and destroy yet another cherished institution at L.C.

Are you with us?

Many times we have pondered whether what we were trying to achieve was right, and should we continue to push against the forces against us. We have drawn the air raid curtains and lit incense. We are in one of its worse internal crises, and has driven another wedge between a large and growing number of individuals, and for want of evidence, the NSA report hinted, "Intensifying the situation surrounding use and possession of marijuana is growing and spreading from coffee houses to university campuses by the flood of dis-trust and inhumanity toward its users who use it.

Both organizations recently announced that they planned to work this year for changes in the laws governing use and possession of marijuana, and for as long as NLS calls society's hypocrisy and immorality toward its children.

"NSA officials..." Students are also profoundly disturbed, Powell said, by the political overtones of law enforcement, in many college communities. He cited the "protest, military-style raids" at Bard College, Franklin College, American University and the State University of New York at Stony Brook, which authorities disrupted these campuses. A recent survey of high-school students in Michigan concluded that marijuana smokers were more likely than non-smokers to participate in political activity and become involved in social change. Such evidence, the NSA report finds, might lead academic officials and police to conclude that they can stifle student politics and thereby neutralize or disrupt the campus political activity by using the lease of drugs.

While working to get existing marijuana laws changed through popular ballot in various states, Powell said, "We'll also--attack in court the constitutionality of current marijuana statutes. The Association has already successfully petitioned the Supreme Court in an amicus curiae (friend of the court) brief in which it is to be allowed to file a brief on behalf of the students."

Are you willing to suffer and should to shoulder with us as we battle the forces against us in our ceaseless penetration into the ancient depths of L. C.

Once again the staff of the Hilltop News is gathering to cast lots into the boiling pot of our Black Arts, chanting a spell which we hope will set the time honored Wheel-of-Fate into motion to roll over and destroy yet another cherished institution at L.C.

Are you with us?

Or will this New Year see you inviting us to fight a battle for new reforms from which you will withdraw your support after seeing our first skirmish in print?

All too often this has been the case.

Many times we have pondered whether what we were trying to do for you was worth the bother. But before we found the answer another call of "read" was carried to us on the waves of a stormy wind of student dissatisfaction and we answered the call. Whether we will continue to answer depends on you.

Pi Gamma Mu
A group of LaGrange College students and professors, members of the campus chapter of Pi Gamma Mu national social science honor society, is seeking “to foster and maintain an intense interest in the social sciences.”

This is the purpose of Pi Gamma Mu, according to Dr. David L. Naglee, associate professor of religion and current president of the local Georgia Delta chapter.

Dr. Naglee said the honor society is composed of “students who have distinguished themselves in the social sciences and involve faculty members that have taught in the field of social science.”

Other officers on the LC campus are Dr. Frederick V. Mills, associate professor of history, vice president; Mrs. Jane Thomas Sullivan of LaGrange, secretary-treasurer.

L.C. Cools Hurricane 73—67

The LaGrange College Panthers came through for their third victory in a row tonight in a conference game with Georgia Southwestern College. The Panthers, led by Garland Gudger's 21 points and Glend Traylor's 10 rebounds, went ahead with 6:09 remaining in the first half and it was never closer than 3 points from then on. Gudger, playing on a sprained ankle (and with only one shoe for a while), had one of his best nights of the season—pumping in 6 field goals and 9 free throws as the team in general continued to look good and now sport a three game winning streak. Ga. S.W.'s Hurricanes drew to within 6 points with 48 seconds showing on the clock but failed in their comeback attempt. This game was the Panthers' second win of the season over the Canes this year and before the game were in fourth place in the conference.
