AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

By Charles Alvord

The judicial council has never really known the fault of disciplinary action. For those who do not fully understand the judicial council's function, it is to impose disciplinary action on students breaking campus regulations. The discipline thus given out with a stated rule is their own business, not anyone else's. The students are given the right to appeal to a certain body which is not in direct conflict with a stated rule, in their own business, not anyone else's.

CHRISTIAN WITNESS

By Gene Cotlin

I am neither a writer nor an English major, I can tell you that I am only one of an unbearably minority of two (that's an inside joke to those around last year for Tilli). I am old enough to be the father of most of you. I took a long time to find out what I had to do. I am a student pastor, serving Unive...
Mr. Menge, I would strongly advise that you keep in strictest confidence the name of the English major who "properly" corrected (?) the letter by Charles Stevens in the October 15 issue of the Hilltop News. Doubtless this person has caused great embarrassment to his major department by this display of his gross ignorance of the use of commas. You may print this letter, and if you wish, submit it to your "authority" for correction. If you refuse to print it, I shall send a copy to the Circle K that they may post it on their bulletin board.

Sincerely,
Cheryl Alkins

For What It's Worth

This is good advice weekly. To clue you in on how to really make points with certain members of the faculty here are some sure fire winners:

To Mr. Dozier, "All string quartets sound alike to me."

To Dr. Naglee, "Well, almost all string quartets sound alike."

To Mike Searcy, "How do you ever think of trying to be subtle with your humor."

To Mr. Freeman, "If only you didn't come on so strong."

To Lisa Williams, "Personally I think flunking 100 is a sign of character."

To Dr. McCook, "I think Old Testament is crp, and your assays are easy."

To Col. Hunt, "Galen Morgan (at 3:00 PM), Hunt, Do bai lae paflaih."

Well in spite of missing the final I talked him into staying me on condition — that hell freezes over!

Quick Quiz

Q—What was the date of the first true manned flight in history?
A— Nov. 21, 1783—or more than 120 years before the Wright brothers got their plane off the ground—by two men in a balloon borne aloft by hot air over the city of Paris.

Q—Which is the longest known meteorite?
A—The 66-ton Hoba West stone, found in Southwest Africa in 1980.

Pal of His Wife

"Madam," said the hobo, "I seem had a wife and family of my own—but I couldn't be constrain— I prowled and prodded at everything—and finally left home."

"Well, here's a chicken sandwich for you, sir," said the housewife. "Maybe few housewives are as considerate as that."
The two teams came back on the field, both ready for more action. The crowd was going wild as Kappa Sig was now kicking off to the Raiders. The sky thunders and the clouds parted as George Courtwright, no relation to Rock, put the pigskin out of the end zone. Pi Kapp brought the ball out to the 15 and proceeded to march down field. Tight end Robert Wood, standing just under 6 feet tall ran a down and in pattern to the corner and scored the first touchdown of the game. Point after failed.

The Pi Kapps kicked off as the ball sailed out of the end zone. Kappa Sig took the ball from the 15 and began moving down field. The Raider defensive line was putting a fierce rush on quarterback Ronnie Mason. Mason fired the bomb, but the bottom fell through, with quickness and agility Ed Wages intercepted the ball at the 30 yard line and ran it in for the score. Point after failed again as it did all day. Score now was Kapp Sig 12, Green Wave 0.

Pi Kappa Phi again kicked off to Kappa Sig. Sage again put the ball into the end zone. Unlike the previous kickoff, big Joe Freeman selected to run the ball out and the ball was downed. As the crowd cleared he had taken the ball out to the 15 where it would have been if he had downed it in the end zone, too. Kappa Sig was now determined to score, but a hard charging Raider defense halted their drive with extreme pressure put on quarterback "Brookly" Ronnie. The ball was again picked off by comeback "Coach" Ralph Sims and returned to the Green Wave.

20 yard line, Tension was at a peak as Sarge Smith pressured his way over with the quarterback sneak behind the hard driving line of Mike Zimmerman, Jim Daniel, and Larry "Hound" Smith. The score was now Raiders 18, Green Waves 0.

Wages again led the team on a drive. With 14 plays left, Kappa Sig took the ball from the 15 (Joe downed it in the and zone this time) and ground out the yardage to the Pi Kapp 20. Here is where the ball game ended. A last desperation attempt by Kappa Sig to get it on the score board had failed. The final score of the game was Pi Kapp 18, Kappa Sig 0. From the appearance of the score one would think that it was a rather one-sided affair. But those who witnessed and played in the game realize that it was a tight game played by two closely matched teams. By Doug, "Shifty," "Junior," "Hound" Smith

Raiders Win Number 5

As Thursday rolled around, the game was between Sigma Nu Pi and Pi Kappa Phi.

At the outset of this game Sigma Nu had a 2-2 record and Pi Kapp was 4-0.

Sigma Nu opened up the game with a drive which began on their own 15 and terminated on the Pi Kapp 6 yard line. James Lee Wages took a short pass and weaved his way between the defenders to the thrill of the Sigma Nu fans and the anguish of the Raider fans. There he was downed on a fine play by Nickie Simpson, leaving the touchdown. As Sigma Nu was unable to score the Raiders took the ball and before the half was over, had scored twice. Both were on passes to Robert Wood and Pug Hitt respectively. The score as the half was Pi Kappa Phi 12, Sigma Nu Pi 0.

In the second half there was only one touchdown scored (how do I remember). One thing which seems to be the "bugbear" of the season is again the extra point. The Raiders of Pi Kappa Phi were not able to score an extra point in the last two games but were able to keep the undefeated status.
